

Senate Ends Natural Gas Price Controls; Votes Inquiry of $2,500 Campaign Offer

Committee To Report On March 1 Case Goes Along With 90-0 Poll

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Senate today ordered an investigation of whether a proffered $2,500 campaign donation to Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) was an effort to influence his vote on the natural gas bill.

The vote was 90-0 with Case voting in the affirmative.

THE SENATE adopted a resolution by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) to create a four-member committee to inquire into the incident.

THE COMMITTEE is to include two Republicans and two Democrats, appointed by Vice President Nixon. It was instructed to report back to the Senate by March 1.

The committee was given subpoena powers and $10,000 to finance the investigation.

Johnson told the Senate he doesn't want it said Senators are "hesitant or afraid to look thoroughly into such matters."

There was no further debate as Johnson moved for an immediate roll call.

WHEN CASE'S name was called, he asked Sen. George (D-Ga.), who was presiding, whether it was traditional for him to withhold his vote.

George told Case he could vote unless he asked to be excused.

Case then voted "aye." The South Dakotan said he did not want to indicate in any way he was opposed to the investigation.

CASE TOLD the Senate of the $2,500 offer last week and interpreted it as an effort to influence him to vote for the gas bill. He said he rejected the money.

And, when the Senate passed the gas bill last night, 53-38, Case was one of those voting against it.

John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb., who sought to give the $2,500 to friends of Case, said it was a campaign donation without strings. Neff is a lawyer who favored passage of the gas bill and who was a registered lobbyist in Nebraska last year for a Texas oil firm.

Johnson and Republican leader Knowland (Calif.) made a strong effort to get unanimity on the investigation resolution.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) at first voted "no." Johnson conferred briefly with him, and Ellender changed his vote to "aye."

Insist on Pay-as-You-Go Highway Building Plan

Democrats Want Gas and Use Taxes To Furnish $12 Billion for Roads

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—A "no compromise" program calling for 12 billion dollars in federal gasoline and other highway-use taxes was started through Congress today by House Democrats.

It would help finance a massive federal-state road construction program sought by the Eisenhower administration.

THE BILL would provide a 1-cent increase in the present 2-cents-a-gallon tax on gasoline and other motor fuels, a 3-cent hike in the 5-cents-a-pound levy on all automobile tires, a rise from 8 to 10 per cent in the tax on trucks, trailers and buses, and a new tax of 3 cents a pound on camelback, or tire-retread rubber.

The measure was introduced in the House late yesterday by Rep. Boggs (D-La.) after it was cleared by Speaker Rayburn of Texas and other House Democratic leaders. The House Ways and Means Committee will hold hearings on the bill starting Feb. 15.

A COMPANION bill to authorize a 51½ billion dollar highway improvement plan was introduced last week by Rep. Fallon (D-Md.). It now is before the House Public Works Committee.

The tax-increase proposal faces an uncertain election-year reception in Congress.

Democratic leaders made it clear they do not intend to budge from their position that highway improvements should be on a pay-as-you-go basis, through road-user tax boosts.

"THERE IS no room for bargaining or maneuvering," Boggs said.

In proposing the road building plan last year, President Eisenhower recommended that the federal share be paid for out of the proceeds of a special bond issue. This plan ran into strong opposition in Congress.

A week ago, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, came out of a White House conference with Eisenhower and told newsmen the President had decided the alternative was either to "give up the roads" or accept the Democratic financing plan. Martin said Eisenhower had chosen the latter course.

BOGGS SAID the tax program sponsored by the Democrats answers objections which led to defeat of highway legislation last year. He said the proposed increases in highway-use taxes would apply across the board and would not weigh unduly on certain classes of taxpayers.

Communities Are Urged To Welcome Atom Industry

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—State Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson declared today that atomic industries were a "part of the dynamic future of the state."

He urged municipal officials to welcome them to their communities. "The time is here for businessmen, government officials and the general public to think of atomic power and nuclear physics as a normal tool of modern industry," he said.

Dickinson said the growth of atomic industries would result (Continued on Page 19, Col. 6) in the need for additional plants on a large scale and he added: "There is no reason why some of these plants should not be built in your town."

"Radioisotopes, gamma rays and neutrons may be applied to every field of industrial and scientific endeavors," he said.

"This is extremely important when projecting the industrial growth potential of your town."

New York, he said, already has more than 500 companies in the business of supplying one or more of the needs of the nuclear industries.

Dickinson said the state was in a favorable position for at (Continued on Page 19, Col. 6)

N.Y. Storm Blamed for 3 Deaths Schools Closed, Power Disrupted

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—A wintry patchwork of heavy snow, sleet and rain harnessed New York state last night and today, snarling traffic, closing many schools and disrupting power. In some spots, rain on top of snow flooded streets.

Three deaths were blamed on icy conditions.

UP TO 10 INCHES of wet snow fell overnight in northern New York and the Albany area was buried in a four-inch fall that raised the on-the-ground depth to eight inches by 7:30 a. m.

The snow, mixed with rain, continued generally upstate this morning. Meanwhile, more than an inch of rain fell between noon yesterday and 8 a. m. today in New York city.

Thunder and lightning added to the onslaught in the area around Watertown, in northern New York.

The weather bureau said the storm would taper off during the day.

PLOWS AND sanders fought to keep roads clear and safe, but travel was hazardous.

However, New York Central Railroad officials in Albany said its trains were running practically on time.

And the Greyhound Bus Lines said its operations were normal except for bad traffic delays between Albany and Pittsfield, Mass.

AIRLINES ALSO were operating, although some flights were affected. For instance, a Mohawk plane from Boston could not land at Albany this morning and went on to Utica.

In western New York, Chautauque counties were covered with ice. Power failures closed schools in Sherman and Clymer, Chautauque county.

In central New York, Syracuse city streets were flooded and about three inches of snow dropped on top of yesterday's rain. Several schools in the area were closed, and ice caused some power failures. In Baldwinsville, near Syracuse, police blocked off a street because of downed lines.

RAIN PELTED many areas overnight, including Buffalo, Rochester and Elmira.

Stillman Choice In Cohen's Place

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today is sending to the Senate for confirmation the appointment of John S. Stillman of Cornwall-on-Hudson as a member of the New York State Bridge Authority.

Stillman, a lawyer, would succeed Harry Cohen of Newburgh, whose term has expired. Stillman is chairman of the Board of Hudson Valley Aluminum Inc., at Newburgh.

Members of the authority are unpaid, but are reimbursed for expenses.

DEEP IN THE SNOW OF TEXAS—Mounds of snow almost cover parking meters along a street of blizzard-swept Amarillo, Tex. Children Will Assist Heart Fund Promotion

A contest seeking the cutest and healthiest boy and girl in Ulster county was announced today by S. James Matthews, chairman of the Ulster County Heart Fund Campaign.

It is called the Miss Sweetheart and Mr. Heart Throb Contest. Its purpose is to promote an awareness of good health and health practices in connection with the 1956 "Fund Campaign," Mr. Matthews explained.

Elsewhere in The Freeman today will be found an entry blank for the contest.

A photograph or snapshot with the child's name on the back should accompany each entry blank. All resident children of the county who have not reached their sixth birthday by March 1 are eligible.

Pictures of weekly winners during the month of February will appear in The Freeman. Winners will be eligible for the grand award of Miss Sweetheart and Mr. Heart Throb at the end of the Heart Fund Drive.

Mr. Matthews said a contribution to the Heart Fund should accompany each entry. The amount of such donation will be unknown to the judges, however. Decision of the judges will be final.

'Picked' Last Year: Mahoney

50 Million Reduction In State Taxes Urged

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7—A Republican legislative leader today scoffed at Gov. Harriman's expressed doubt that the state could afford a 50-million-dollar income tax cut.

Walter J. Mahoney, Senate majority leader, said: "We are sure the state can afford it. The taxpayers are deserving of the cut, particularly since their pockets were picked of 48 million by the Democrats last year."

Mahoney referred to the tax-cut bill passed by the GOP-controlled Legislature last year and vetoed by Harriman, who is pressing for passage of a 40-million-dollar tax reduction.

"It seems to me," said Mahoney, "that even by the governor's standards, the Republican 50-million-dollar tax cutting bill is a pretty good bill. I don't know how he can afford to veto it."

Harriman said in a radio interview last night that he had not had a chance to study the Republican measure and therefore had not decided whether it might be acceptable to him.

"But," he added, "I'm inclined to believe the additional 10 million all goes to persons in the higher-income bracket. And I'm not so sure the state can afford all of the reduction the Republicans recommend."

The Democratic governor said he "naturally" hoped he and the GOP leaders could reach an agreement on tax cutting and other major issues.

Eugene F. Bannigan, Democratic leader of the Assembly, told the Republicans in that chamber last night that the state needed large sums for education, highways and other things and "you are going to have to vote the money."

"If you want roads," Bannigan said, "you're going to have to vote the money."

Supporters Expect Ike Signature In Consumer Bills

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—A bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal price controls was passed by the Senate last night, 53-38, and sent to President Eisenhower.

Senators Lehman and Ives of New York were among those who voted last night against the bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

BOTH BACKERS and opponents, in the three weeks of Senate debate which preceded the vote, predicted Eisenhower would sign the bill into law.

Opponents said that would bring a sharp rise in householders' gas bills. The bill's chief Senate sponsors, conceding there might be some slight increase, said the long-term effect would be beneficial. They argued that removal of federal regulation would stimulate exploration and thus result in more adequate supply of gas than would be the case under present law.

All efforts to change the bill were beaten down by margins similar to that on final passage. The Senate then accepted a version which the House had approved 209-203 last year in place of the one drafted by its own commerce committee.

THAT ACTION bypassed another test in the closely divided House.

On the final Senate test, 31 Republicans and 22 Democrats voted for the bill. Opposing it were 14 Republicans and 24 Democrats. The vote came at the end of a 10½-hour Senate session.

A disclosure by Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) that he had rejected a proffered $2,500 campaign contribution, which he said seemed to be intended to sway him for the bill, apparently had little effect on the final tally. Case, as he had said he would do, voted against the bill.

John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb., insisted there were "no strings attached" to his offer of the money to Case.

WITH THE BILL itself out of the way, Senate leaders arranged to press today for a bipartisan investigation into circumstances of the incident.

The closeness of the vote in both branches of Congress indicated that proponents probably could muster the two-thirds majority which would be required to enact the bill over a presidential veto—but such a veto is not considered likely.

Eisenhower told newsmen last year Congress seemed to be making progress toward assuring gas consumers adequate supplies at fair prices. That was at a time when the legislation was taking shape in Senate and House commerce committees.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark.) and Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), the sponsors, predicted Eisenhower will sign the bill. Fulbright said its provisions are in line with recommendations made by Eisenhower's cabinet committee on fuels.

PROPOSERS contended that "burdensome" regulation of natural gas prices by the Federal Power Commission (FPC) discourages production and would result in scarcities in years to come. They argued, too, that there are no similar federal controls on competing fuels such as oil and coal.

156th Announces Director To Head Recruiting Drive

Captain Gilbert W. Calhoun was appointed today to direct the National Guard's one-day recruiting campaign here Feb. 22.

Announcing the appointment, Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, battalion commander of the 156th Field Artillery said: "In picking the best man for the job, I have promised him the full support of all National Guard personnel in this city to make our drive the success it must be."

Headquarters Battery, Battery A Service Battery and the Medical Detachment of the 156th stationed in Kingston on North Manor avenue have pledged their support.

Captain Calhoun, a former battery commander in the 156th, is now serving on the battalion staff. He is scheduled to depart for Fort Sill, Okla., early in March to pursue a course of instruction at the Artillery and Guided Missiles School. He has been active in local National Guard affairs since early 1947 when the 156th was reactivated following its service in World War 2. He resides with his wife and two sons in Hyde Park.

Captain Calhoun said immediately following his appointment that his principal aim in the one-day drive would be to "insure that every prospective National Guard recruit and his (Continued on Page 20, Col. 6)

Still Seek Motive For Tragedy at Gardiner Sunday

Law enforcement officials were still seeking a motive today in the tragic death of a 30-year-old mother and her three children Sunday morning in their four-room cottage in an isolated section of the town of Gardiner.

Coroner Francis J. McCordie issued a verdict of death by homicide in the case of the children, Veronica, 8, Alma, 5, and Robert, Jr., 3, and the death by suicide in the case of Mrs. Alma Tattersall.

The bodies were found by Robert Tattersall, 34, the woman's husband, when he returned home from work about 11:15 a. m.

Mr. Tattersall was brought to Kingston where he was questioned by District Attorney Howard C. St. John, Assistant DA's John Larkin and John Schick and the Ulster county sheriff's office and a statement taken.

Mr. Tattersall said his wife had risen with him Sunday morning about 4 o'clock, prepared breakfast for him before he left to sand town roads, had appeared to be well and in good spirits.

Funeral services for Mrs. Tattersall and the three children will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at the Jesse McHugh Funeral Home, Wallkill, thence to St. Charles Church, Gardiner, where a high Mass or requiem will be offered for the repose of their souls. Burial will be in St. Charles Cemetery. A Rosary service will be held at the funeral home at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Murphy Funeral Home, 176 Broadway, thence to St. Mary's Church, where at 9 a. m. a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Seated in the sanctuary was the Rev. Francis X. Toner. The responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono, choirmaster-organist. Among the many relatives and friends who attended the Mass was St. Mary's Rosary Society, led by their president, Mrs. Walter Phillips. During the bereavement scores of friends called at the funeral home to offer their condolences. Among those who called and said prayers for the deceased were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, PRVF, Sunday evening St. Mary's Rosary Society assembled at the funeral home with their president, Mrs. Phillips, and assisted their moderator, Father Toner, in the recitation of the Rosary for the late member. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Msgr. Drury gave the final absolution and blessing at the grave. Bearers were Carl Janasiewicz, Thomas Tomshaw, Benjamin Osterhout, John Crespinio, Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton.

One Passenger Hurt
West Newton, Pa., Feb. 8 (AP)—A landslide rolling down from a rain-soaked hillside struck and derailed a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad passenger train moving at an estimated 45 miles an hour early today. One car was overturned, two others tilted and three more derailed within a few feet of the surging Youghiogheny river. The diesel engine and two cars remained upright on the tracks. Only one passenger of the more than 100 aboard the train required hospitalization. He was detained at McKeesport Hospital for treatment of possible back and neck injuries. The railroad said he was James S. Stern, of Pittsburgh.

Streifer to Buy Uptown Site for New Law Office
Abraham Streifer, local attorney, has contracted for the purchase of the two-story brick building located at 5-9 Main street from Rudolph Nelson. Title will pass about March 1.

On the street level are three stores, one occupied by the Nelson jewelry store, Hearing Aid Service and a liquor store while the upper floor formerly contained several apartments. Mr. Streifer said he would alter the second floor to offices and on completion of the alterations would move his law office from 63 John street to the newly acquired building.

The sale was negotiated through Harold W. O'Connor, Albany avenue real estate broker.

Wholesale egg prices were steady today. Receipts 19,654. (Wholesale selling prices based on exchange and other volume sales.)

Bruhn Convenes First Trial Term

County Judge Louis G. Bruhn convened the February trial term of County Court Monday at 2 p. m., the first trial term since his election to the bench last fall. Facing him was a criminal calendar of 71 cases and a civil calendar of 116 cases.

Criminal matters will be taken up this week and civil matters will be taken up following a call of the civil calendar Tuesday, Feb. 14.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John, on behalf of the various county officials, welcomed Judge Bruhn to the bench, speaking of his fine record as an attorney and also as a public official. Judge Bruhn was elected district attorney in 1947 and served in that office for two terms. Mr. St. John extended to Judge Bruhn the best wishes of his office for a successful term of office. Judge Bruhn thanked the district attorney for his remarks and good wishes and said he would endeavor to uphold the dignity of the office, an office which had been filled by numerous distinguished gentlemen.

SEVERAL defendants were arraigned under indictments handed up by the January grand jury and the case of Edward Behler, burglarly, third degree and unlawful entry was moved for trial. Aaron Klein appears for defendant who is charged with entering the rooms of persons at the Pioneer Country Club, to follow the Behler case is a forgery, second degree, case of Lawrence A. Williams of Dutchess county who stands charged with having forged checks at various times during 1955. He was arrested by state police at Highland. William A. Kaercher appears for defendant. Williams has previously been charged with forgery and served time at Sing Sing prison.

The case of Michael De Stefano, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, Charles Saccoman attorney for defendant, will be disposed of under the Youthful Offender statute.

An extortion charge against Dominic DeMarco will also be disposed of under the Youthful Offender law, Charles Saccoman appearing for defendant.

Richard James Williams and Myron Arthur Hoffman were arraigned on a charge of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry. Pleas of innocent were entered and William D. Brinnier was assigned to Williams and Joseph Saccoman to Hoffman.

IN THE CASES of Richard Lee Macomber, assault, second degree, and Elijah Garvin, burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, Judge Bruhn disqualified himself and stated a judge from out of the county would be assigned to preside at those cases. Judge Bruhn prosecuted both defendants while district attorney.

Paul Henry Northrip and Harold Bernard, charged with grand larceny, first degree, were arraigned and their cases will be disposed of under the Youthful Offender statute. The indictments were ordered sealed. Court recessed until 2 p. m.

British Move to Ban Capital Punishment

London, Feb. 7 (AP)—Britain may have executed her last murderer.

For almost six months Albert Pierrepoint, public hangman and mild mannered keeper of a Lancashire pub, has been on an unscheduled vacation. Not once during that period has he sprung the trap on a condemned man. And in that period the home secretary, who makes the final decision on appeals for clemency, has reprieved nine convicted murderers.

NOW THERE is public agitation to make the "hangman's holiday" permanent.

"Ban hanging" rallies are being held up and down the country. Newspapers are demanding a quick decision by Parliament to settle the controversy before the next murderer faces the gallows.

The government is expected to schedule a House of Commons debate on abolition—or at least a test suspension—of capital punishment soon after Prime Minister Eden returns from Washington Thursday. Political observers give an anti-hanging bill a "fair chance" of passing.

The latest drive against capital punishment was sparked by the hanging of Ruth Ellis for the shooting of her lover last year.

THERE WAS a general outcry. Many people felt there were so many extenuating circumstances that the blonde nightclub hostess should have been spared the hangman's noose.

More recently, the case of "the three falsely imprisoned men" has added fuel to the anti-death campaign.

This case shocked the nation. The men were convicted of beating up a policeman. They served two years in prison before two others doing time confessed the crime. But what if the policeman had died? British law rigidly demands the supreme penalty for murder.

Twice in the last eight years Parliament has come near suspending capital punishment. The House of Commons voted for a five-year experimental suspension in 1948 but the House of Lords vetoed it. A year ago the House narrowly turned down a similar proposal by 31 votes.

NOW MANY members of the Commons, wavering over the issue, are said to have been impressed by the danger that the falsely imprisoned trio might have been hanged long before their innocence was established. The press generally feels the case has probably strengthened the hand of the abolitionists.

Statistics show that an average of 24 persons are sentenced to death in England and Wales each year. An average of 11 are reprieved.

Opponents claim hanging is a barbaric, degrading process and that no one can be sure that an innocent man hasn't been put to death. They maintain at least two men were wrongfully executed in recent years.

THE GOVERNMENT stand has been that no satisfactory alternative as a deterrent to murder could be found and that there is a clear lack of overwhelming public opinion in favor of a change.

Eight prominent barristers—without entering into the debate on hanging—have proposed giving the jury discretion on the penalty, such as a substitution of a life sentence for death in certain circumstances.

Roundup of Albany Bills

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—Bills to continue and strengthen the 10-year program under which nearly 4,000 miles of town highways have been rebuilt in four years were introduced in the Legislature today.

The bills were sponsored by the State Commission on Agriculture, headed by Republican Sen. Austin W. Erwin of Genesee. They were among hundreds submitted as the lawmakers approached the half-way mark of the 1956 session.

THE SENATE and Assembly stepped up the pace last night and approved dozens of bills. Several won final passage and were sent to Gov. Harriman.

The Senate approved a measure by Republican Sen. John H. Hughes of Syracuse that would eliminate the $5 fee for special license plates for the years in which only a tab is issued.

The Senate approved a measure that would require full-time employees of school cafeterias or lunchrooms to take a pre-employment medical examination for contagious disease. Examinations would be made yearly thereafter, under terms of the bill sponsored by Sen. Frank S. McCullough, Rye Republican.

SIMILAR APPROVAL was given to a bill that would empower peace officers to enforce traffic infraction cases. It was sponsored by Sen. William S. Hults Jr., Port Washington Republican.

The Assembly passed a bill that would prevent directors of corporations from voting by proxy at board meetings. It was introduced by Republican Assemblyman J. Eugene Goddard of Rochester.

A key measure in the Erwin committee program would soften the impact of revised equalization rates on the cost of town road programs. Equalization rates, expressed in percentages, are a ratio between the state's valuation of real property and that of local assessors. The rates are used in computing state aid.

THE NEW BILL would hold to the present level, as much as possible, the state percentages. The town tax for the road program, now set at 60 mills on the valuation per mile of town highway, would be dropped to 40 mills.

Erwin said that if the formula were not changed, the towns participating in the road program stood to lose a total of $1,400,000.

Under the program launched in 1952, the state pays 25 to 75 per cent of town road cost up to $7,000 per mile. The new bill would boost the limit to $9,000.

The change in the formula will prevent towns from losing money, Erwin said, and the boost in the per-mile limit to $9,000 will cover increased costs of highway construction.

BILLS CALLING for the establishment of 30 state scholarships for advanced nursing education were introduced by Sen. Earl W. Brydges of Niagara Falls and Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson of Yonkers, Republicans.

They proposed appropriation of $22,500 a year to provide $750 for a year's professional study by a registered nurse.

Other bills would: Reduce from $50 to $25 the annual fee to be paid by professional fund raiser to Social Welfare Department for registration (Assemblyman Sidney H. Asch, D-Bronx).

Exempt from restrictions upon interest in pari-mutuel activities any public employees earning less than $7,500 a year, instead of $5,000 (Sen. Wheeler S. Milmo, R-Canastota).

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 7 (AP)—If President Eisenhower decides not to run again, a good man to replace him in the White House would be Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, says Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. In an address to an Anne Arundel county Lincoln Day dinner last night, Maryland's Republican governor said

Gruenther "is showing the same ability to win and hold the confidence and trust of the people of all nations, and that like Eisenhower he is a distinguished statesman as well as a great soldier."

THE BULGANIN OFFER

The United States cannot now or ever be a party to any plan of world settlement which calls for dividing the globe into Communist and non-Communist spheres of influence. Our moral position before the world demands that at all times we speak and act for freedom.

That is perhaps the chief reason why President Eisenhower could do no other than reject Russian Premier Bulganin's offer of a treaty of friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Bulganin's proposal, set forth in his letter to the President, is basically a program for gaining American acceptance of Russian conquests to date. We would be asked, in effect, to enter upon a new era of "Soviet-American friendship" in which we would do nothing at all to disturb Russian rule over millions of enslaved peoples.

It is one thing to recognize, as we do, the existence of a military stalemate in the world today. It is quite another to extend formal recognition, to condone, Soviet conquests in Europe during and after World War II.

The only hope the enslaved have is America's moral support, its dedication to the cause of their freedom. To abandon them would be unthinkable, even though it is thoroughly plain we cannot now do anything concrete about restoring their liberty.

Furthermore, we have no assurance whatsoever that a treaty of friendship with Russia would be worth a ruble. Russia's path is strewn with broken treaties of this sort. They are maintained only so long as they are thought convenient and useful to the Kremlin.

LOTS OF PEOPLE

"California! Here she comes!" The Census Bureau has just estimated the state's growth at nearly 2,500,000 since the 1950 census. Not only is she securely in second place, having displaced Pennsylvania, but she is hot on New York's heels. California is now estimated to have 13,032,000 inhabitants as against New York's 16,124,000. The whole nation's population was put at 164,300,000. This excludes service men abroad.

Another interesting development is the rapid growth of Nevada. In the last five years she is said to have gained 40.6 per cent. She still remains the least populous state, with 225,000 inhabitants. The figures, however, cheer Nevadans, some of whom recall when the number of inhabitants remained stationary, well below 100,000 and in some censuses lost a little. Now Nevada is on her way up, and dreams before long of losing her last-place position in population. Wyoming, with 306,000 inhabitants, and Vermont, with 378,000, are not too far ahead of her.

All these figures are estimates, but they give an interesting idea of what may be expected from the 1960 census.

While many people are complaining about pressures of their work and the times, others are moving ahead. What better discipline of the moment is there than pressure?

SPEAKING OF PRECEDENTS

Back in depression days it became fashionable in Washington to voice gratitude for a favor with: "Thanks a billion!" Since then, not too many men have bothered to count nickels and pennies in the capital.

Refreshing it is, therefore, to find a couple of fellows giving a really detailed account of what they did with some of the taxpayers' money.

The two gentlemen who broke with recent tradition were Senator Theodore Green, Rhode Island's aging Democrat, and Pat Holt, staff member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. They made a foreign-aid tour.

Every cent was set down, from modest passport fees to the cost of their airline tickets. Since the pair visited 17 foreign countries, this was no offhand task.

Let the names of Green and Holt be

THE HUGHES CASE

I never met Paul Hughes. He never came to offer me the insides of the McCarthy Committee, although in those days I met many men and women who set forth all sorts of claims to influence and power. There is nothing unusual in that because it appears to be a characteristic of some young persons to try to build a reputation advertising that they are really the ones who make the wheels go round. I am forever meeting men who wrote the speeches for other men and it strikes me as queer that these brilliant idea men never seem to get anywhere themselves. And then, there is always the man who has a Senator or a Cabinet officer in his left rear pocket, but it is surprising that the same Senator or Cabinet officer leaps out of the left rear pocket and does just the opposite of what the boastful fellow said he would do.

I suppose every newspaperman encounters fellows like Hughes and learns to discount them, just as "The Washington Post" editors did when the stories did not pan out.

In my years of association with Senator Joe McCarthy, I have heard all sorts of stories about him and generally found that the favorable and unfavorable ones were grossly exaggerated. That is characteristic of most stories about public men; They are never as good as their press agents would have us believe and they are never as bad as their enemies would like them to be. Take away the gown or the uniform or the aura of office and most of these fellows are like the members of your family, your schoolmates or your neighbors. If one of the great gets knocked out the way I am now, the girl who sticks the needle is dealing with a child who resents being hurt.

It was stupid of the A.D.A. people to spend $10,000 to try to "get" Joe, particularly going about it the way they did. Joe McCarthy was trying to find out how the Communists infiltrated into our government and it is evidence of a taunt organized office that the Communists were never able to infiltrate Joe McCarthy's office. The A.D.A. officials certainly could have got a list of those who were employed by that committee and they might have tried to tempt some of them. So far as is known, not a single one ever swiped a letter from a file.

But the question naturally asks itself: What did the A.D.A. officials believe that this man Hughes could deliver to them? What were they looking for? Actually, there was nothing that they could find that was not, in due course, published because in such an investigation, the files are developed as the hearings move forward. The files are usually empty and the counsel, particularly such a one as Roy Cohn, carries what there is to know in his head.

Hughes must have been a wonderful salesman to do Joseph Rauh out of $8,500 for information which he obviously could not deliver because if it existed, he would not have known where to find it. And if he found what he looked for, it would not have been worth anything to anybody anyhow. The evils of Joe McCarthy were so exaggerated that undoubtedly Hughes could paint whatever picture he chose and there would be some one to believe that it might be possible. I have often wondered why Joe was not accused of the Guy Fawkes plot or the burning of the Reichstag.

I note from my solitary confinement that the target of all this contentions is now Senator Eastland. He is being painted as a Southern devil and I should imagine he will be given a pretty bad time of it. He has now taken on Robert Morris as counsel for his Committee. Morris making a considerable personal sacrifice out of devotion to a cause and to his country, Morris is an extraordinarily competent lawyer and investigator and nobody will even try to get anything on him because he has made himself invulnerable. He does not permit personal proclivities to interfere with his public service.

It is to be expected, therefore, that the Senate Internal Security Committee will be doing a masterly job in defense of American ideals and of American crusades. Of course, there will be those who do not believe that these investigations have anything to do with American ideals and civilization but rather with the desire of some citizens to persecute others. Even those who hate Joe McCarthy must by now recognize that Communist infiltration is a menace and that we need a technique of identification of the evil. We are probably closer to a satisfactory method today. (Copyright, 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CIRRHOSIS OF THE LIVER

Cirrhosis of the liver is characteristically associated with a moderate or a severe degree of undernutrition that is evidenced by wasting of muscle and loss of the tissue immediately under the skin. Usually, a vast accumulation of fluid in the abdomen (ascites) accompanies this state of severe, chronic liver disease, so that the patient with cirrhosis and massive ascites has been likened to a spider because of his large fluid-filled abdomen and spindly extremities.

The complications of liver disease, such as the vomiting of blood, unconsciousness and, of more concern here, ascites requiring frequent punctures or tapping to draw off the fluid, has made it difficult to improve the patient by diet. Work from a number of clinics has demonstrated that salt restriction controls ascites formation and will sometimes lead to prompt increase in the amount of urine and hence loss of this large accumulation of fluid. As we all know, it is necessary to have the patient's complete cooperation in any treatment involving diet.

In a report from Charles S. Davidson, M.D., Harvard Medical School, he says, "My purpose is to present the sequence of events of 30 patients with chronic cirrhosis of the liver and with ascites and edema (dropsy), most of whom were undernourished and who were treated with an adequate diet and salt restriction for periods of a few weeks to two years. Evidence is presented indicating that, with the suitable cooperation of the patient and barring other complications, such a regimen, if persisted in, leads to loss of ascites and edema, improvement of the nutrition of the individual, and evidences of lessening of the liver disease."

The 30 patients discussed were selected from the medical wards of the Boston City Hospital because of a diagnosis of cirrhosis of the liver and a presumed ability to cooperate with the treatment prescribed. Of the 30, 28 were known alcoholics but two clearly were not. Four were considered well nourished, 16 moderately undernourished and ten severely undernourished.

On an adequate diet and restricted salt (200 mg.), the improvement in nutrition experienced by most of these patients was striking and usually coincided with improved liver function, increased feeling of well-being, and improved appetite.

Twelve patients in the group failed to lose the ascites and dropsy but all but one of these did not have an adequate trial of salt restriction, due either to failure to keep to the treatment, often with resumption of drinking, or, in two, to death from massive hemorrhage.

The good results encountered in the 14 patients who faithfully followed the treatment are most encouraging. We should keep in mind that one gram of salt will hold seventy times its own weight of water in the body.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — The eight-point philosophical joint declaration issued by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Anthony Eden was aimed primarily at the free nations of Asia.

The purpose was to draw their attention to two basic sets of political and economic facts.

In parallel arguments it is set forth that the policy of the western nations is to support the nations of Asia in independence and freedom, while Soviet policy seeks their political and economic conquest.

The proof of this latter contention is cited in the squeeze which the Soviet rulers apply to their own people and their satellites, in place of the promotion of their welfare.

THE EISENHOWER-EDEN declaration serves as an emphatic follow-up and justification of President Eisenhower's previous rejection of Russia's proffered "friendship" treaty.

The second Eisenhower-Eden communique, which might be called the Dulles-Lloyd statement, gets down to the brass tacks of differences between the American and British approach to specific problems in Asia.

That part of the statement which relates to Europe merely reaffirms adherence to North Atlantic Treaty Organization and reunification of Germany. This is not new.

The general assumption is that Eden and his delegation return to London satisfied with their mission. But many points of difference remain unsettled and subject to further negotiations.

which will begin soon in Washington.

As regards Israel, France will be invited to join these talks. They will study means to implement the Tripartite Declaration of May, 1950, guaranteeing borders. But the means of enforcing these guarantees have yet to be decided.

SPECIFIC ACTIONS TO BE considered include economic blockades and sanctions—in or out of the United Nations—and the possible use of U. S. and British forces in the area to preserve order.

An early report that such forces might be placed along the armistice lines in Israel in the immediate future was wrong. Any decision to use U. S. forces would, of course, require approval by Congress.

The suggestion to strengthen the UN truce observation teams, now numbering fewer than 100 men, involves only a limited increase. There is no thought of adding say 10,000 men to keep the peace.

There was no new decision on furnishing arms to Israel to offset the arms furnished Egypt by Czechoslovakia. Present U. S. policy is supply no arms in this area. But this does not rule out supplying arms if the situation changes.

The other principal point in the Eisenhower-Eden communique concerns future trade with Communist China. Again there were no final decisions. Everything is left to negotiation by economic experts.

The British are under pressure to lift some restrictions on the China trade. This applies particularly to rubber which Ceylon and Malaya would like to sell wherever they can.

There are two embargo lists, compiled by international coordinating committees. The original list bans sale of strategic materials to Soviet Russia. The China list, much more extensive, applied to Red China trade.

AMERICAN POSITION is that increasing this trade even by some millions of dollars is not the important consideration. The basic question is what is best for promoting the welfare and defense of the free Asian countries and for preventing further Chinese Communist aggression in the area?

The United States has now agreed only to continued review of the two embargo lists to see if any items could be traded for the benefit of the free countries.

What may come out of these reviews, no one can say now. There was no change in British support—for the coming year at least—of the U. S. opposition to admission of Communist China into the United Nations.

So They Say..

I think we must face up to the possibility that Russia may be ahead of the United States in the field of guided missiles and in the race for the development of the intercontinental ballistics missile.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Karl A. Bickel has given me permission to identify him as the source of my recent story about the panicky effort of Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign minister, to sell him ten priceless Russian priestly vestments in Moscow "back in 1927," or thereabouts, to raise $100,000 of American money in preparation for a war with Poland and France which Litvinoff believed to be imminent. Mr. Bickel, now retired, and putting in small time in Saratoga, Fla., for all his modest disclaimers, was and remains one of the best American authorities on Russian political tricks, the Russian temperament and the intimate history of the early years of the Soviet Union.

He is, of course, out of intimate touch with recent Russian affairs and personalities but in the 'twenties, and up to 1935 he was, in a manner of speaking, a commuter between New York on this end and Moscow on the other, with many stops at London, Paris, Berlin, Warsaw and Peking.

Karl never has done his memoirs on a career which included a hitch as a Bull Moose editor in the 'twenties, and up to 1913, Grand Junction, Colo., in 1913, which ended with Theodore Roosevelt's inevitable defeat by Woodrow Wilson. Thereupon he landed in the Chicago Bureau of the United Press for a crash course in concentrated news under a brilliant cub of disarmingly stupid men who for reasons of modesty will be nameless here. A few weeks' instruction prepared him for a career of salesmanship in which he drew with orders for 50 words, Western Union, press rate collect, Monday, Wednesday and Friday for scrawny boiler-plate tri-weeklies at wide spots in dusty roads in Arkansas, Missouri and Texas.

President's Views Are Cited To Clear Up 'Traitor' Issue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 7.—Nobody ever called Harry Truman a "traitor" or "disloyal"—and the former President ought to know it. What his faulty memory is striving to recall, rather vaguely, is that his administration was attacked in the 1952 and 1954 campaigns for being "soft on communism." "That's an issue which, if Mr. Truman wants it so, can readily be revived for public debate, and the facts spread upon the record once more.

For Mr. Truman has never explained why he signed two letters—one on April 30, 1946, and one on April 7, 1947—praising the late Harry Dexter White, whose connection with a Soviet spy ring had been called to his attention on Feb. 4, 1946, by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI.

WHEN ATTORNEY General Brownell disclosed the facts about the Harry Dexter White case in November 1953, he never called Mr. Truman "disloyal," the Trumanites were quick to charge in an effort to evoke sympathy for their side. What Mr. Brownell did was to question the judgment and administration in letting Communist stooges slip through their fingers. The most carefully worded statement of the case came not from Vice-President Nixon or any other Republican spokesman but from Gen. Eisenhower himself in an address delivered at Milwaukee on Oct. 3, 1952.

The prepared text, which uses the word "treason" three times, reads in part as follows:

"I have come to Milwaukee tonight to talk with you about communism and freedom. . . . These two ideas are as opposed as danger is to safety, as sickness is to health, as weakness is to strength, as darkness to light. Great truths can, at times, be startlingly simple. This one is of that kind. It is so simple a truth that it seems almost too obvious, almost stale.

"But let not our memories be too short. Only a few years have passed since many moved among us who argued cunningly against this plain truth. Their speech was persuasive, and their vocabulary clever. Remember? It went like this: 'After all, while we stand for political democracy, they stand for economic democracy. Fundamentally these are but two slightly different roads to the same goal. We both believe in freedom.'

"WE MUST all remember that sophisticated lie. We will never forget it. For it partly poisoned two whole decades of our national life. It insinuated itself into our schools, our public forums, some of our news channels, some of our labor unions and—most terrifyingly—into our government itself.

"What did this penetration into government mean? It meant contamination in some degree of virtually every department, every agency, every bureau, every section of our government. It meant a government by men whose very brains were confused by the opiate of this deceit. These men were advisers in a foreign policy that—on one side of the world—weakly bowed before the triumph in China of Communists hailed as 'agrarian reformers.' On the other side of the world this policy condoned the surrender of whole nations to an implacable enemy whose appetite for conquest sharpened with every victory. This penetration meant a domestic policy whose tone was set by men who sneered and scoffed at warnings of the enemy infiltrating our most secret counsels.

"IT MEANT—in its most ugly triumph—treason itself. "These years have, indeed, been a harrowing time in our history. It has been a time of both honest illusion and dishonest betrayal—both terribly costly. It has been a time that should have taught us, with cold clarity, the truth about freedom and communism.

"Most of us, young or old, wise or naive, have learned. An important few have not. They have learned very little, and they admit nothing. They are men about whom there is nothing great except their vanity and their complacency. They are proud prisoners of their own mistakes.

"Who are these men? "They are those who cheered the blithe dismissal of the Alger Hiss case as a 'red herring.' They are those who applauded two weeks ago when an administration servant grandly declared that Communists in our national life were 'not very important,' and that we should not waste time chasing 'phantoms.' They are those who slapped their sides with laughter when the same man dismissed the quest for Communists in our government as a kind of silly game being played in the Bureau of Wildlife and Fisheries.

"DO YOU THINK these fish stories, ghost stories and animal stories are really very amusing? Such comedy touches do little to relieve the tragic knowledge that we have been for years the gullible victims of Communist espionage experts. These experts in treason have plundered us of secrets involving our highest diplomatic decisions, our atomic research. Tragically, we do not know how much more our security may have been jeopardized.

"You can never cure malignant growth just by a hearty bedside talk. It must be blurted, for this is a serious matter. I speak not as a partisan or as a candidate but simply as an American citizen—moved to honest anger by this persistent, gnawing threat of Communist treason in our national life. I know that millions of both parties today are moved to anger and to action.

"Neither these millions nor I have patience any longer with those whose complacency excuses our government's failures as wholly unavoidable."

MR. EISENHOWER then recalled his own observation of "fifth columns" in Europe. He added that "it is the prerogative of government to set the strictest test upon loyalty" and that it is a "privilege, not a right" to work for the United States government. He declared that the Bill of Rights "contains no grant of privilege for a group of people to join together to destroy the Bill of Rights." He said:

"A group—like the Communist conspiracy—dedicated to the ultimate destruction of all civil liberties cannot be allowed to claim civil liberties as its privileged sanctuary from which to carry on subversion of the government."

It is a great speech and certainly its doctrines should appeal equally today to the rank and file of Democrats as well as Republicans. Reprints should be widely distributed by "the Fund for the Republic," since it has sent out literature on the other side of the same controversy. (Reproduction Rights Reserved) ington some guy from the UP. The name of the UP stuck in this guy's mind. Late in 1922, against the protests of the State Department, I signed a deal with the then Rosta Agency, now Tass, for an exchange of news. In 1923, just after the Russians had their American end in the UP office, I decided to go to Europe. I had just been made president of the UP. They called Durant back and we held about eight weeks of conferences in Moscow.

"I guess I damn near physically organized Tass that summer. Joe Doletsky knew nothing about it and with the exceptions of two men who had some German press experience, no one else did. I laid out their universal cop desk, gave them an outline of a news room with the various desk layouts, and showed them how to organize and file a 500-word pony report. Remember how you taught me how to file a 30-minute pony telephone report? Well, on that basis, I actually taught it to the Russians and by fall they were shooting 30-minute reports into (Continued on Page 9, Col. 3)

Questions—Answers

Q—Where are the Mystic Islands?

A—This name is applied to a marshy area about 20 miles northeast of Atlantic City, N. J.

Q—What is the oldest living thing?

A—The giant California redwood tree. Some redwoods actually live 4,000 years.

Q—For whom is Vassar College named?

A—Matthew Vassar who in 1861 gave a large sum of money to found the college.

Q—Who was Andrew Jackson, Jr.?

How much of your income flies out of your hand?

You work hard for that silver and crisp green. Are you letting any of it escape without making it work just as hard for you? Then what follows is for you.

After you've paid the bills and put aside money for emergencies... hang on tight to the rest and ask these questions...

Would I be wise to make this money work for me by investing in common stock?

Just possibly you would. Because money invested in a business can grow if the business grows.

What would I have to show for it if I bought common stock?

You'd be part owner of the company whose stock you bought. And you'd receive your share of any dividends the company pays.

Would my company always pay dividends?

Not necessarily. Companies don't always make a profit from which to pay dividends. But last year 9 out of 10 companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange paid dividends.

Don't I have to be rich to own stock?

This may surprise you: About 75 per cent of the estimated 7 1/2 million people who own stock in American companies have incomes under $10,000.

How would I know what stock to buy?

Look before you leap. Drop in on a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. They'll welcome your visit and be glad to help you get facts about different kinds of securities listed on the Exchange.

What kind of facts?

Facts about the company's record, its profits, progress, dividends paid... its competition and management. And other information to help you judge its prospects for growth.

Of course, stock prices can go down as well as up. But an advantage of being an owner is that if the company prospers you can prosper, too.

A good way to start making your hard-won dollars work for you is to read our interesting free booklet, "Investment Facts About Common Stocks and Cash Dividends." It tells you how to go about investing, lists dividends paid by many companies, and tells about the Monthly Investment Plan, which enables you to buy stock for as little as forty dollars every three months. Send the coupon to your broker, or direct to the New York Stock Exchange, Dept. 6B, P.O. Box 252, New York 5, New York.

HEART ATTACK! No. 2

Here's How Doctor Explains Disease to a Heart Victim

EDITOR'S NOTE: The world-famous specialist who is counseling President Eisenhower on his heart spells out, in case history style, what happens to you if you are hit by a heart attack. This is the second of three articles written for NEA Service and The Kingston Daily Freeman in connection with National Heart Month.

By PAUL D. WHITE, M.D.
(Distributed by NEA Service)

Dr. Jones belongs to the growing number of physicians who believe that a patient should have enough understanding of his heart disease and its treatment and enough confidence in his physician to follow recommendations wholeheartedly.

That is why Dr. Jones took time in the very beginning to explain fully what was wrong and what should be done. His explanation to Mr. Brown was extremely detailed, but in essence here's what he told him:

"Actually, the heart attack you had is not primarily a disease of the heart. It is really a condition of the arteries—the coronary arteries—that supply the heart muscle with blood.

"Over a period of years, these coronary arteries were setting the stage for your heart attack through the gradual development of atherosclerosis—a form of arteriosclerosis. Atherosclerosis involves a thickening as well as a hardening of the artery walls.

"AS A RESULT, less and less blood gets through. Certain sections of these arteries are more affected than other sections. Some persons go through life with abnormal coronary arteries there still will be no strength to your scar at first. That is why you must remain quiet for another two or three weeks, although we will prop you up to eat and you can be lifted at times into a chair.

"By the end of the first month the scar will probably begin to contract. During the second month it should become firm and the new blood channels should become wider and adequate to carry ample blood to nourish the heart muscle still alive.

"AS WITH ANY KIND of healing process, some people mend faster than others. But if all goes well, with ordinary luck and care three to four months' time is enough to get you fully back in the swing of things again—and that means back to your job."

Dr. Jones explained to Mr. Brown and to his wife that a firm, well-healed scar may cause no trouble for the remainder of a long life. But he knew, too, that optimism can be overdone and lead to overconfidence and carelessness.

Only in the minority of cases is a heart attack fatal, usually within the first few hours or days. Eighty per cent or more survive their first heart attack and most of them recover fully enough to enjoy a good many and never know they have anything wrong. They die of something else—old age, or perhaps they get run over.

FOUR DAYS AFTER attack of coronary thrombosis, white cells are beginning to clear away dead tissue. Scar tissue is beginning to form at edges of damaged area (below clot).

"In your case, Mr. Brown, a blood clot formed in the narrowest part of one of the branches of a coronary artery. This clot (or thrombus) blocked the blood supply to an important part of the heart muscle, which began to ache—and that is what we call a heart attack, or coronary thrombosis.

"The ache continued while the portion of the heart muscle—perhaps the size of a walnut—that was cut off from its supply of oxygen-carrying blood continued to struggle along in its work with the rest of the heart. Gradually the fibers of this small portion of the muscle died and the pain slowly went away.

"Now this damage is really a bruise. It is like an abscess without any germs or infection and it has to be taken care of.

"YOUR BODY HAS TO send 'wrecking sells' to clear away the dead tissue before the tissue can heal and form a strong scar. The process takes about a week or longer and we always expect a degree or so of fever with it.

"At the end of the first week you may feel perfectly well; but until a scar forms and toughens you must remain at complete rest—physically and mentally—to avoid a rupture of this weak spot in the muscle wall.

"During the second week

EIGHT WEEKS or so later, tough scar tissue has formed. Patient begins to resume activities. He must keep his weight down and avoid severe mental and physical strain.

years of productive activity.

But no two persons are exactly alike. Some may require extra oxygen for several days at first. Many may be helped by anticoagulant drugs, but these drugs may be considered unnecessary for some or even dangerous for others. A competent physician will know when to give medicine and when to let nature do her own repair job.

THE PATIENT and his family should be told about possible future symptoms, both important and trivial. A sensitive person is likely to become heart-conscious after coronary thrombosis and be unnecessarily worried by minor symptoms of little or no importance.

Many who have recovered from coronary thrombosis play golf, walk, and exercise in moderation without trouble. Mild exercise is beneficial rather than harmful.

The intensive research now going on may someday result in a knowledge of what causes atherosclerosis, the condition underlying coronary thrombosis. One of the suspected factors is the body's handling of fats.

We hope, too, that research will discover some method of diagnosing coronary thrombosis in its early stages and at the same time give us methods for preventing coronary thrombosis.

LaSalette Priest First From U.S. To Be Bishop

The Rev. Paul Girouard, M.S., the first LaSalette priest from the United States to be raised to the episcopacy, will be consecrated in St. Joseph's Cathedral, Hartford, Conn., March 7 at 9:30 a. m.

The Most Rev. Henry J. O'Brien, D.D., Archbishop of Hartford, will be the consecrator. The Most Rev. William A. Scully, D.D., Bishop of Albany and the Most Rev. Russell J. McViney, D. D., LL.D., Bishop of Providence, will be the assistant consecrators. The Most Rev.

Richard J. Cushing, D.D., LL.D., Archbishop of Boston, will preach the sermon at the consecration which will be with a pontifical procession.

The LaSalette Fathers have charge of St. Francis de Sales Church, Phoenixia.

Father Girouard was born at Hamilton, R. I., Dec. 27, 1898. After graduating from the Wickford grammar school in June, 1917, he entered LaSalette junior seminary at Hartford the following September. Educated by a devout Catholic family, from his earliest years in the seminary he gave proof of that supernatural strength of character, that deep faith and tender piety, that self-sacrificing zeal, which are the hallmarks of a priestly and missionary vocation.

HE WAS called to the novitiate at Bloomfield, Conn., in 1919 and made his first religious profession on July 2 of the following year. He was then sent to Rome where, from 1921 to 1927 he followed the courses of Philosophy and Theology at the Pontifical Gregorian University.

The Rule of the Missionaries of LaSalette provide that only volunteers are sent to the foreign missions. The Fathers and Brother-Scholastics who lived daily with Father Girouard in Rome were not surprised when it was announced by the Superiors that he had been accepted for the Madagascar mission.

After his ordination to the priesthood in Rome, Father Girouard returned to visit his relatives in the United States. Then, in company with Father Arthur Leblanc of Providence, R. I., he began the final preparations for the long voyage to Madagascar.

THE DEPARTURE ceremony took place on June 14, 1928, at Our Lady of Sorrows' Church, Hartford. Next day a solemn farewell Mass was sung by Father Girouard and Auxiliary Bishop Maurice F. McAuliffe preached the sermon. Father Girouard arrived in Madagascar July 28, 1928, and was first stationed in Antsirabe upon the latter's death, was appointed Prefect Apostolic in January, 1955.

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato: "I do not believe in immortality and have no desire for it," once wrote H. L. Mencken, who died last week. "The belief in it issues from the puerile egos of inferior men."

At another time he expressed himself this way: "Life is pleasant and I have enjoyed it, but I have no yearning to clutter up the universe after it is over."

THERE ARE many alive today who do not share Mencken's views on immortality, but who are perhaps glad he no longer is here to "clutter up the universe."

The tendency to write Mencken off as merely a verbal show-off began many years before his death. Those who prize orthodoxy always like to low-rate the unorthodox many by calling him a showoff. They do this because they fear him. He disturbs the pattern of their smug world.

THE CRITICS of Mencken like to dismiss him as the leader of a short-lived intellectual cult, as if he were no more than a faddist with a gift for words. Somehow I believe they are quite wrong. I think that if we could return here a century hence we would find that the clarion accents of the sprightly "Baltimore Sage" had won a more enduring place in literature than the gibberish of many literary critics today who find life so overpowering and confusing.

CERTAINLY those who would pigeon-hole Mencken as merely a smart alec long-hair idolized temporarily by sophomoric college kids have got the wrong man in the wrong container. His mind didn't wrap easily into any known package.

As did that 18th century lexicographer, Sam Johnson, Mencken became for a time a top literary spokesman of his time. He helped an entire generation of authors to break away from the syrupy echoes of the past and start writing the vinegar truths of the present.

WHAT OTHER writer of the 20th century did more to put the stamp of world acceptability on an emerging new language—the American language?

Mencken truly belonged in the company of "the great questioners" such as Jonathan Swift, Voltaire, Samuel Butler, Thomas Hardy, Mark Twain and George Bernard Shaw. These are men who looked behind the easy beliefs of mankind for the hard answers.

Like Swift and Shaw, Mencken found the cosmic hypocrisies of the human race ridiculous, but he found the individual man immensely likeable. Few men in history who have left a record of their passage behind them have had a greater zest for life, or enjoyed it more.

PERSONALLY, Mencken was one of the kindest of souls. He held out a cheerful helping hand to hundreds of young writers, and didn't expect or look for gratitude. I know this; I was one of them.

But he loved human liberty and he could sympathize with every form of human frailty except pretense and stuffed-shirtism. In his death freedom lost one of its most ardent swordsmen and pomposity its bitterest foe.

Mencken be forgotten? Even though the 25 volumes he wrote should sink into oblivion with his ashes, one sentence alone should guarantee his immortality.

As long as men love kindness, understanding and a sense of humor, they cannot forget the man who penned this as his whimsical epitaph:

"If, after I depart this vale, you ever remember me and have thoughts to please my ghost, forgive some sinner and wink your eye at some homely girl."

What critic of Mencken has ever written a line that shows so warm a feeling for humanity—not as it should be but as it is?

City Paper Reviews Local Painter's Work

Woodstock, Feb. 6—The following review of a Woodstock artist's exhibition in New York appeared in the New York Herald Tribune, Saturday, Feb. 4:

"While the paintings by Pach- ita Crespi at the gallery this artist herself operates are again vividly painted reminders of her various experiences in Costa Rica they indicate a change of viewpoint gradually making its way into her work. This is the imaginative and recollective viewpoint which gives her canvases a more poetic, if still quite pictorial more than a plainly decorative, character."

BOSS'S IN HIGH GEAR—Bossy gave more milk in 1955 than ever before, but there were fewer milk cows in use. That's the picture presented by this chart based on Agriculture Department figures. Long-term changes in dairy farming account for the increasing milk production of cows. A new record high—124.5 billion pounds—in total milk output was achieved in 1955. With average crop and pasture conditions, milk output in 1956 is expected to total between 126-127 billion pounds.

Gleason Likely To Move Back To 8 P.M. Spot

By CHARLES MERCER

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Almost any day now we'll probably hear officially that Jackie Gleason's "Honeymooners" is moving back from 8:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. (Eastern Time) Saturday evenings on CBS-TV opposite Perry Como on NBC-TV. Como, as widely publicized, has moved ahead of Gleason in the viewer ratings.

"Stage Show," the Gleason-owned program which has been in the 8 p. m. spot on CBS-TV, will come on at 8:30 p. m. "Two for the Money," the Herb Shriner Quiz Show currently appearing on CBS-TV at 9 p. m. Saturdays, probably will move into a week-night spot. Into that Saturday evening slot will come a new filmed comedy series, "Joe and Mabel," a program that went back to the shop for further tinkering last summer.

IF PRESSED for official confirmation of this, all parents involved probably would deny it. But that's what I see in the crystal ball.

As long ago as last April when Gleason was riding near the top of the viewer ratings he was asking CBS for the 8 p. m. slot this season. But it didn't turn out that way. For one thing, the sponsor of "Two for the Money" had an agreement that the program was to follow Gleason. Now Shriner has signed a five-year contract with CBS for a weekly hour variety show to begin late next fall. That means that "Two for the Money," which incidentally has good ratings, is in for a change. Sponsor and network must be approaching some sort of understanding.

Gleason has been doing a lot of yelling—and incidentally garnering several million dollars worth of publicity in the newspapers. Yelling is always confusing and rather meaningless. The crux of the matter is Perry Como. Both Gleason and CBS feel they have to do something about him. Whatever their family differences they're united under the banner of "beat Como."

LET'S ALWAYS view television ratings skeptically. But even the most skeptical agree that Gleason's audience has slipped badly. Can he recapture it simply by moving his time back a half-hour? I don't think so.

Off and on, as the weeks pass, I continue to watch "The Honeymooners." It's a cast of superb actors, paced by a great comedian, almost always working from excellent scripts. The fact it's on film doesn't bother me. After all, Phil Silvers, just about the funniest guy on the set today, works on film. Then what troubles me—and possibly many like me?

I'M SIMPLY tired of the formula of Ralph, the bus driver, and Alice, his long-suffering wife, fighting it out on that same bleak apartment set. I long for the old free-wheeling days of Reggie Van Gleason and the wonderful variety of characters and situations this man Gleason can play.

What Gleason is doing this season is much easier than what he was doing last season. Those must have been exhausting days, and you can't blame him for wanting to take it easier. Probably he's under constant pressure from many quarters to go back to live shows. Maybe he'll eventually submit.

But from this corner live or film does not seem to be the answer to the situation. The answer to me lies in killing off Ralph Kramden, a bus driver who has outlived his usefulness to the world of entertainment. It need not be a brutal killing. Perhaps he merely could undergo psychoanalysis and emerge with a brand new personality.

Yet it's gratuitous to offer Jackie Gleason enterprises, Inc., ideas. They have some excellent ones in that shop. If only they'd start using them again.

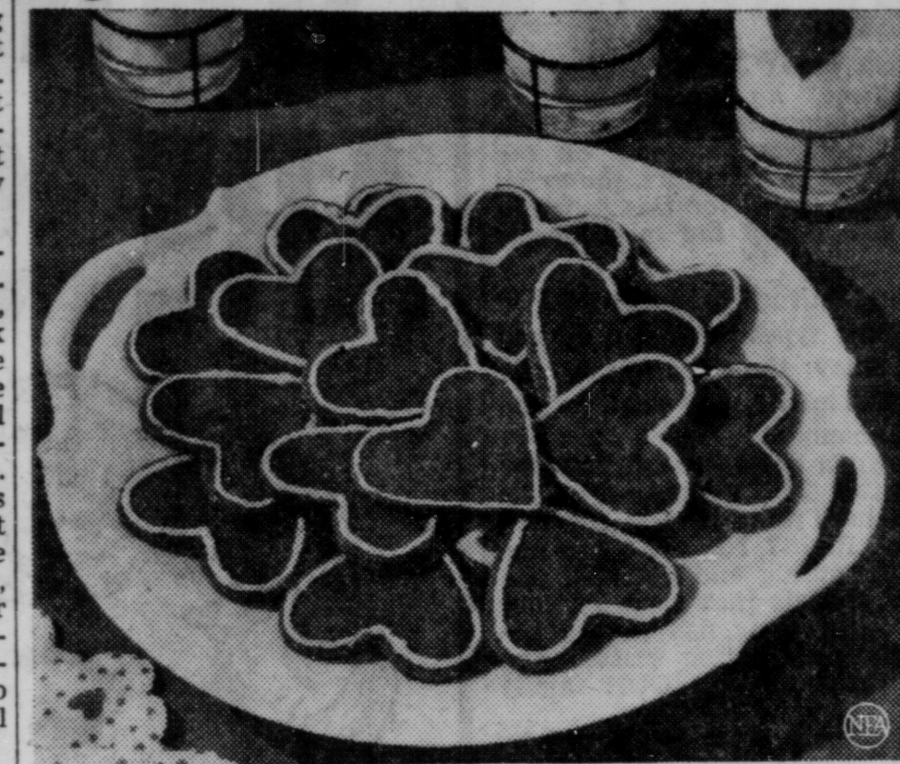

Train Jumps Track

Kokomo, Ind., Feb. 7 (AP)—The twin diesel locomotive and four cars of a Chicago-to-Cincinnati passenger train of the Pennsylvania Railroad jumped the track in southeast Kokomo last night, injuring eight trainmen and five passengers. None was hurt seriously. Power to the entire southeast quarter of this city of 40,000 was cut off as the locomotive smashed into a transformer. The heavy unit knocked four cars into a steel warehouse building before the first section of the twin locomotive fell onto its side. Electricity flashing from the broken power lines hampered firemen as they worked to extinguish burning fuel oil spilled beside the locomotive.

The U. S. 1913 Liberty, or V-type nickel is very rare. Only six are known to be in existence.

Chocolate Heart Cookies Right for Valentine's Day

THEY TASTE BETTER to children if the shape matches the holiday. Hearty chocolate flavoring doesn't hurt, either.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

The heart of the milk goes into these heart-shaped valentine cookies. Enriched with instant nonfat dry-milk powder, they carry a valuable dividend in protein, calcium and riboflavin.

Instant nonfat dry milk, economical, comes in family-size package (makes 12 quarts), a one-pound package (makes five quarts) and a premeasured package of three individual envelopes (makes one quart).

Chocolate Heart Cookies

(Makes about 3 dozen cookies)

One cup sifted flour, ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 squares (2-oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted, ½ teaspoon vanilla extract.

Sift together flour, instant nonfat dry-milk powder, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening; gradually add sugar. Beat until light and fluffy. Add egg, beat well. Stir in chocolate and vanilla. Blend dry ingredients into creamed mixture. Wrap dough in waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator at least ½ hour. Roll out on floured board to ¼ inch thickness. Cut into heart shapes with floured cookie cutter. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until firm, about 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from sheet at once. Outline cookies edges with confectioner's sugar frosting, if desired.

Valentine Bavarian
(Makes 6 servings)

One package cherry gelatin dessert, 1½ cups hot water, ½ cup Bing cherries (drained and pitted), ¼ cup finely chopped walnut meats, 1/3 cup water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1/3 cup instant nonfat dry-milk powder.

Dissolve gelatin dessert in hot water; chill until partially set. Fold in cherries and nuts. Combine water and lemon juice. Sprinkle instant nonfat dry-milk powder over surface. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff, about 8 to 10 minutes. Fold whipped nonfat dry milk into gelatin mixture. Pour into a one-quart heart-shaped mold. Chill until firm, about 3 to 4 hours. Additional cherries may be used for garnish, if desired.

TOMORROW'S VALENTINE

DINNER: Clear tomato bouillabaisse, oven-fried chicken, cream gravy, fluffy rice, buttered baby beets, green beans, heart-shaped rolls, butter or margarine, watercress and avocado salad, French dressing, strawberry ice cream, chocolate heart cookies, coffee, tea, milk, valentine mints.

Six Easy Ways to Get Yourself Disliked

(Second of a Series)

2. Be a Cheapskate

By JIMMY HATLO

(EDITOR'S NOTE: During the 30 years Jimmy Hatlo has been drawing "They'll Do It Every Time," he has been deluged by readers with examples of man's inhumanity to man, which makes him, whether he likes it or not, an authority on the subject. With a tip of the Hatlo hat to his contributors, the artist and author has drawn on this rich background for this series of six articles, spotlighting the pests who annoy the most people from coast to coast.)

It has been said that every national culture produces its own type of pests. This I don't believe. Some types are goons in any language. So it is with our type for today: the Cheapskate.

I'm convinced that there is no walk in life, any place in the world, where the cheapskate doesn't abound.

For instance, do you happen to own a deep freeze? You do? Now let me make a guess about something. I'll guess that during two periods of the year you have a hard time finding room in that freezer to put the stuff you buy. Right? No, don't tell me. I'll tell you; those two periods are the spring and the fall. And the reason there's no room for your stuff is that some of your free-loading friends have it stuffed with their fish during the fishing season, and their game during the hunting season. And how much of this provender ever turns up on YOUR family platter? Haw! I'm being silly again.

The poor guy with the corner stationery store is plagued by the cheapskates who come in, buy an El Nickelo cigar, and then act as if they've bought library privileges at the magazine racks.

© 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A few visits from these leeches who, for some reason, always seem to have gummy fingers, and the guy's magazine stock looks as if it had been used for bedding at a dog show. But you should hear 'em on the rare occasions when they come in to BUY a ten-cent book. It's gotta be spotless, or else!

You'd think a farmer, way out there in the country, might be safe from this type of creep. But just ask one. You'll find that they drive forty miles out in the country just to get to him. Happens like this:

Car door opens. Crustwell J. Bashin steps out, followed by a sheepish-looking hound. "Hi, Zeke," the fellow says. "Just got me a new dog. Would you mind if I gave him a little workout on your place?"

"Nope," says good-hearted and unsuspecting Zeke. "Go right ahead."

A week later a cavalcade of cars stops by Zeke's place. About twenty hunters pile out, and tear into the field Zeke has just finished sowing with winter wheat. "It's okay, fellers," bawls Bashin. "Good ol' Zeke said it was okay last week." Next thing Zeke knows, it sounds as if the battle of Bunker Hill is being fought all over again. Such cows as are lucky enough to escape the slaughter are terrified into complete milklessness. The poultry flock decides that Chicken Little was right about the sky falling down, and takes off for the tall timber, and the newly planted wheat field looks as if a herd of buffalo had used it for the annual spring meeting. The only thing Zeke can hope for is that Bashin will be one of the casualties.

Then there's the "borrowing" chiseler. He is indigenous to offices as well as homes. In a way you are lucky if he decides to "forget" to return whatever it was he took. That, at least, keeps him from coming back. But most of the "borrowers" keep things just long enough for them to wear out. Then they return them, complaining about the cheap merchandise you buy. These are the people who borrow everything from your punchbowl to your silver and then don't ask you to the party. They are always "just out of change" at the hat check stand and over a year's time probably just-out-of-change you out of ten or fifteen bucks.

They're all the same. They're something-for-nothing guys, always ready to shoot an angle. Greedy, small-souled cheapskates. How can they like themselves? Nobody else does.

TOMORROW: The Loudmouth.

Business Tries Booming Valentine's Day Sales

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Love gets the business a week from today. It's been more than six weeks since Christmas. And merchants think it's time again for you to give someone something.

So, from now till next Tuesday retailers, manufacturers, florists, telegraph companies, candy makers and greeting card writers will be reminding you constantly of your duty to loved ones on Valentine's Day.

AND THEY won't be overlooking the added zip that Leap Year can give to business. One manufacturer has studded a gift belt with a watch which "warns this is the year to leap."

Each year of late merchants have plugged harder for sales in connection with the day dedicated to love.

But their preoccupation with this week's opportunity isn't blinding their business eye to the sentimental occasions still to come. Orders for the Easter trade are already in.

Stressing a possible 750 million dollar trade opportunity, one advertising agency offers merchants and civic groups a promotional package for the fitting observance of Mothers Day May 13.

A COUNCIL of businessmen who might profit from tributes to the nation's chief bill payers are already beating the bushes to see that Fathers Day is a dinger in June.

Merchants concentrate most on male shoppers for Valentine's Day, although gifts are plugged for both sexes and all ages.

More men buy greeting cards around Valentine's Day than at any other time of the year, including Christmas," says Frank Shaw, sales manager of Rust Craft greeting cards, Dedham, Mass. But he adds that leap year cards are proving to be excellent sellers.

Cards come in all sizes and prices—including a $3 one, a large red satin heart with a pearl bracelet and a heart charm attached.

THE FLORISTS Telegraph Delivery Assn. hopes for a record business next week. The Jewelry Industry Council plugs gift-giving next week as "purely from the heart, inspired wholly by affection." And it lists as ideas gold bracelets and bar tools. The Paul Masson vineyards of California get in the act with sherry and port in heart-shaped bottles with the label "To My Valentine."

Candy makers are out in force, with hearts all over the place, including one chocolate valentine card you can eat.

IF YOU WANT something you may not have given before, merchants are full of helpful hints. One advertises "perfume on a soft hearted pincushion." Another suggests, "love forever—our own short nightie, sets hearts aflutter." Along the same line is a "his" and "her" set called "secret love pajamas, a gift with a gleam of romance," and suggested for "lovers with a sense of humor."

One jeweler waxes lyrical thus: "Can she bake a cherry pie? Maybe not, charming Billy, but she can wear bright red cherries—necklace, bracelet, pin earrings." If any are left over after Valentine's Day the jeweler may have his eye on the Washington's birthday trade.

FOR THE youngest charmers, one merchant offers "queen of hearts sheer nylon duster," and another has valentine pinafores. There are the usual hearts and flowers handkerchiefs and heart-shaped bracelet charms. But one retailer says "leather chairs make lovely valentines." And if your own heart is big enough you can buy a diamond studded gold heart at a famous jeweler for $670.

Another retailer settles the matter for once and all this way: "Those with monumental love will send her mink."

PRIESTLY WINNER—Highest honor in American chemistry, the Priestly Medal of the American Chemical Society, is going this year to Prof. Carl S. Marvel of the University of Illinois. Professor Marvel is an authority on synthetic rubber and plastics. He will receive the gold medal in April at the society's 129th annual meeting in Dallas, Tex.

NAMED—Sen. Lester Hill (D-Ala.) will receive the first annual award of the National Mental Health Committee on Feb. 10. He is being recognized for "outstanding contributions by a public official during 1955 in the fight against mental illness." Senator Hill will be given a gold key mounted on a marble base at the Alabama State Mental Health Association's banquet in Birmingham.

As Pegler Sees It

Petrograd and several other large cities.

"Things like that were simply enormous in their minds. Their telephone engineers flatly reported that anything like that report was an utter impossibility, electrically. They sent to Berlin and got a high-geared German telephone man. He listened to me and asked for two days to think it over. He decided it might be possible in theory but not in actual practice. That was just ten years after you showed me how to handle the old Elgin, Waukegan, Joliet and Freeport service. So we got it started and it worked. Later, I sent them 15 Kleinschmidt printer telegraph machines and I understand that circuit is still operating, not only to the papers but to the censorship, and the foreign office.

"They forced Joe to commit suicide in July, 1937, when the purge opened up, largely because he was close to the Polish crowd that were supposed to be leading the pro-German conspiracy. They gave him a revolver, just after lunch and told him they would call around four p. m. If he was dead they would guarantee that his son would be permitted to go ahead with his mining engineering school plans and no political disabilities. So, according to Joe's old housekeeper, she heard a gun go off a little after three."

Actress Goes Home

Hollywood, Feb. 7 (AP)—Actress Judy Garland has returned to their home and will drop her divorce suit against him, producer Sid Luft reports. "She went to her sister's," he told a reporter yesterday, "but she came home Saturday and we had a good, old-fashioned talk. I guess we had been working at cross-purposes. 'I believe I hadn't been paying enough attention to her personal problems. At any rate, we worked things out and everything is smooth again.'"

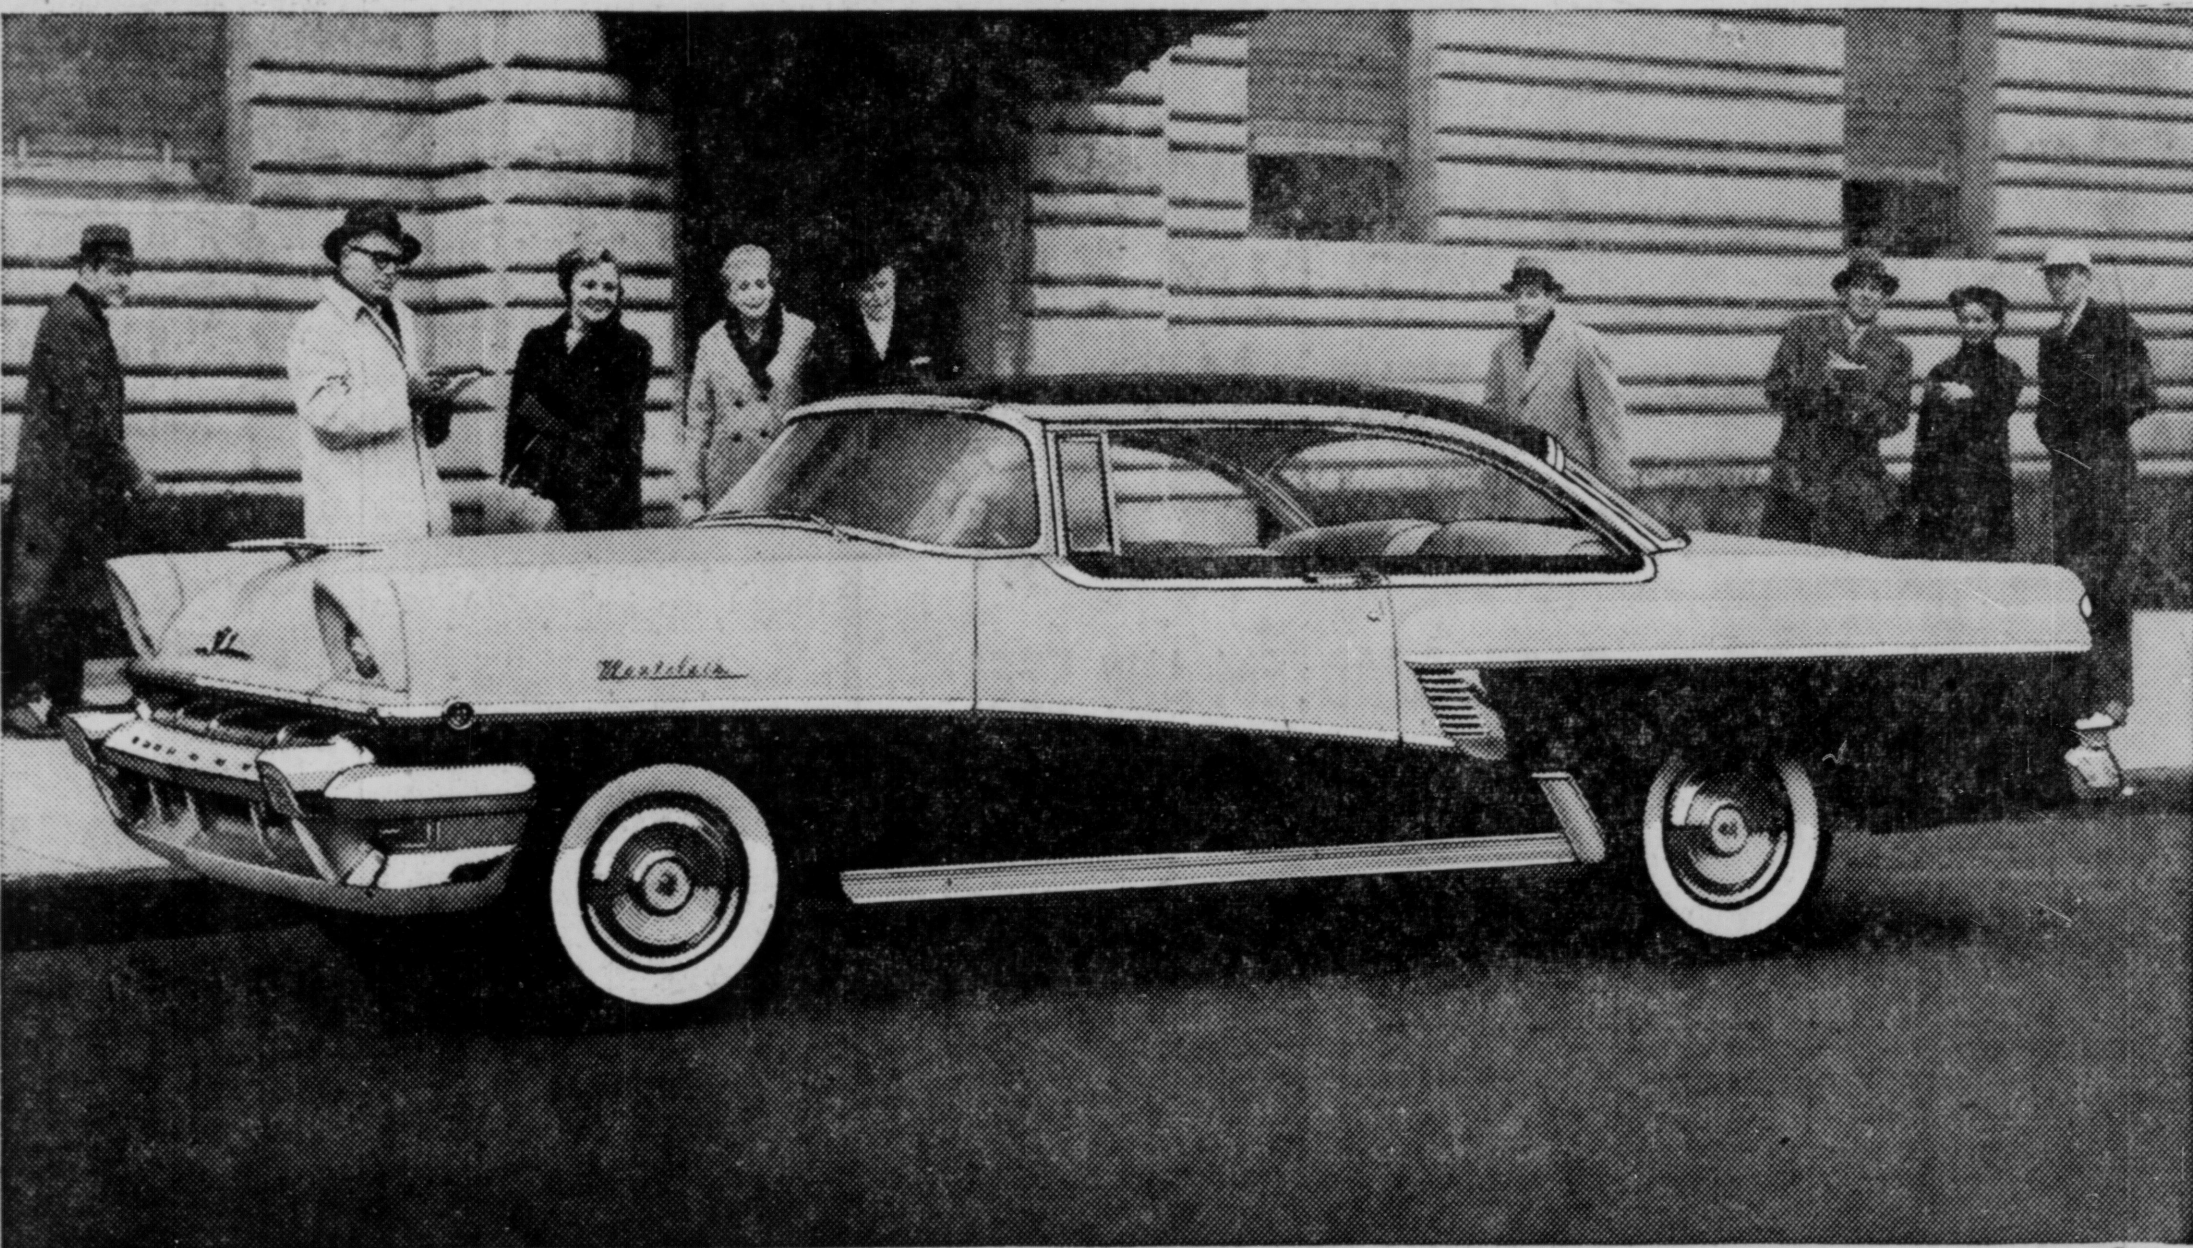

Tucker to Address Tillson Law Class

The adult education class in Law Everyone Should Know will meet at the Tillson School Wednesday night at which time Francis Tucker, Kingston attorney, will lecture on the subject of insurance.

Mr. Tucker presented an introductory lecture on this topic to the class at Tillson on Nov. 30, 1955. The adult education class asked that Mr. Tucker, who has had wide experience in insurance law, return for a second lecture.

PUBLIC VOTES MERCURY "BEST VALUE IN ITS FIELD"

19th annual nationwide survey of car owners—by independent research organization*—shows Mercury leads its price class as "best value for the money." Whether you pick a Montclair, Monterey, or Custom, you get more car in four big ways!

1. NEW REFLEX-ACTION PERFORMANCE—Go, stop, pass, climb, turn. THE BIG M responds instantly to your every command, adjusts instantly to every road. We call it "reflex action"—a new kind of performance that makes all your driving easier, safer—and far more comfortable.

2. NEW BIG M BEAUTY—Here is fresh, clean, graceful beauty for the young-minded. Mercury's lines are long, sleek, road-hugging. New Flo-Tone color styling is radiant and dramatic. You enjoy a distinction in THE BIG M that is unmatched in Mercury's price class.

3. NEW SAFETY-FIRST DESIGN—You get the widest choice of safety features in the field. At no extra cost, there's an impact-absorbing safety steering wheel (an exclusive in Mercury's field) and triple-strength safety door locks. Such features as seat belts and padded instrument panel, optional.

4. PROVABLE VALUE—Here's value you can see, and measure! Low first cost. Low operating costs. And high resale value. Remember, over the years Mercury trade-in value has remained consistently high. No wonder Mercury was voted "best value in its field." Better see us soon.

'Open Door' Situation
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—A Harriman administration bill introduced in the Legislature last night apparently would leave the door open for the State Power Authority to take over privately owned transmission lines through condemnation. But the governor's counsel, Daniel Gutman, said that was not the intent of the measure. The Democratic legislative leaders, Sen. Francis Mahoney and Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan, said the bill was designed to spell out the authority's right to build its own transmission lines when needed to sell St. Lawrence Electric power.

KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN

Newkirk Making Strong Drive in Sheriff Race

Following yesterday's announcement in The Freeman that four names are in the field for Ulster county sheriff, Republican party committeemen said that Oscar V. Newkirk, former mayor of Kingston, is making a concentrated drive for support.

His name was listed with three other possible candidates yesterday, Claude Bell, West Shokan, supervisor of the town of Olive; Supervisor Peter Williams of the town of Saugerties and Clayton W. Vredenburg, presently serving as undersheriff.

The GOP committeemen said they had received letters from the former three-term mayor soliciting their support at the unofficial Republican convention in April.

IN HIS LETTER, Mr. Newkirk now serving as assistant secretary of the Public Service Commission in Albany, listed his experience in government and business. He has held that position since 1954.

He was elected mayor in 1947, 1949 and 1951.

Prior to serving as mayor, Mr. Newkirk represented the Second Ward of Kingston in the Common Council from January 1932 to December 1945. From January 1946 to December 1947, he acted as supervisor of the ward.

He went to work for the National Biscuit Company in 1925. From 1928 to 1947, the letter said, "I was representative for the company and traveled all the roads of Ulster county and became acquainted with a great many people from one end of the county to the other and came to know many of their problems."

Mr. Newkirk was born in Centerville, Sullivan county, and moved to Ulster at the age of six months. He lived near Ellenville until coming to Kingston in 1922. He has resided here since that time.

AS REPORTED, yesterday, Undersheriff Vredenburg has no comment when queried as to whether he intended to make a bid for the post now held by Cluett Schantz of Marlborough.

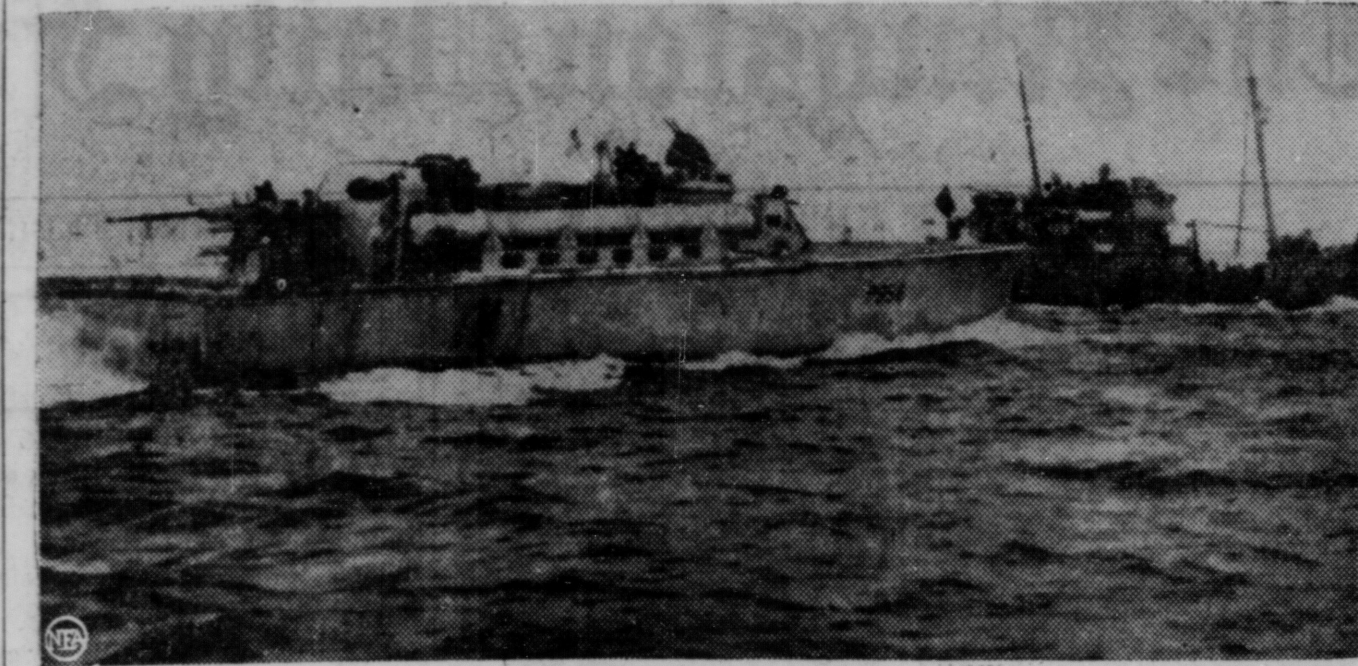

Supervisor Williams said he had not given much thought to the speculation about him running, because he was busy with the current developments in the rapidly growing Town of Saugerties.

Supervisor Bell said he had announced to other board members that he intended to seek the nomination, which indicates he may be Mr. Newkirk's strongest rival.

Revision of Bar Canons Meant To Check Lawyers, Not Press

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Cloyd LaPorte, president of the New York State Bar Assn., says a proposed revision of the bar's Canons of Professional Ethics is intended to curb publicity-minded lawyers and not the press.

Addressing a convention dinner of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors last night, LaPorte said:

"THE PROPOSAL to strengthen Canon 20 does not involve any attempt to say to the press what it should or should not publish. The purpose is simply to restrain some members of the bar from interfering by statements made outside the courtroom with the fair trial which is sought to be provided in that courtroom."

About 125 persons attended the dinner held at the Roosevelt Hotel in conjunction with the editor's semi-annual meeting. LaPorte said lawyers "themselves cannot agree on how far to restrict out-of-court news of pending cases."

HE SAID the proposed change in Canon 20 is intended to prevent the release by attorneys of material to newspapers, radio, television or other media of public information that would prejudice the conduct of a trial.

"It is . . . the general view of the bar that, whatever the rights and immunities attaching to other citizens may be, lawyers, when engaged in litigation, should confine their efforts and activities to presentation of the case in court and should not themselves be the source of communications to the press or other agencies of material relating to the trial, particularly of matter which may never be offered in evidence, or which may have been expressly excluded by the court."

HE SAID the bar's Canon 20 covers this situation, but is not stringent enough to satisfy some lawyers.

"One suggestion," he said, "was that the courts should adopt rules forbidding practices by lawyers appearing before them, but no headway has been made on this suggestion."

LaPorte said that failure of the State Bar Assn. to act on the proposed change at its recent annual meeting resulted from differences over the wording to be used, rather than from a lack of belief that the present Canon 20 is "too general and indefinite."

NOTING that the matter was withdrawn for further study and resubmission to the Bar Association at a later date, LaPorte told the editors: "I cannot prophesy what will result from such further consideration."

LaPorte said there had been earlier discussions with representatives of the press on how to deal with the out-of-court statements by lawyers, but many lawyers felt that the bar "should clean its own house."

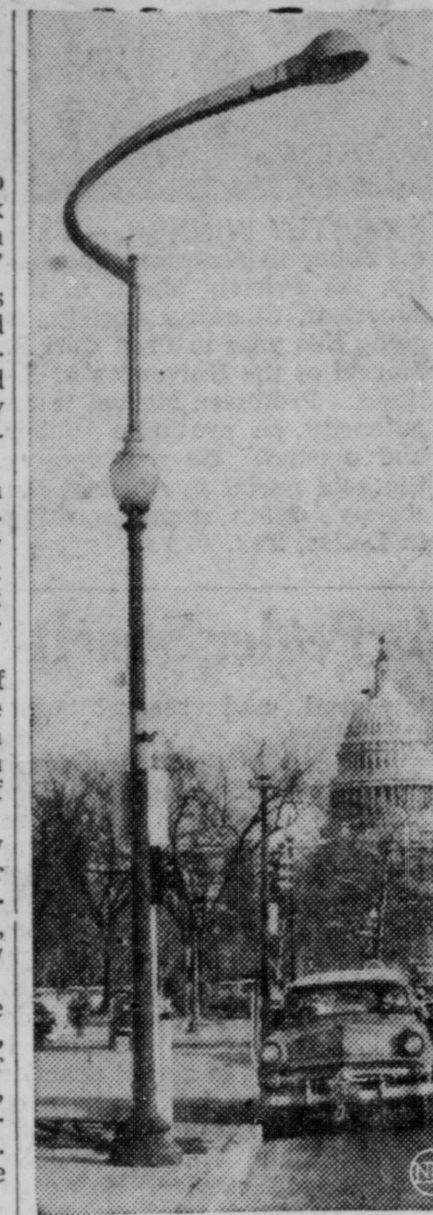

DURING yesterday's session of the editors' meeting there were panel discussions on the growth of suburbs, news suppression and the shrinking supply of newsprint.

The program was arranged by Fred G. Eaton, managing editor of the Saratoga Springs Saratogian, and Raymond B. O'Neill, national news editor of the New York Times.

The growing suburbs were discussed by Paul A. Tierney, editor of the Long Island Star Journal; Douglas V. Clarke, managing editor of the Newburgh News, and Gilbert P. Smith, managing editor of the Utica Daily Press.

Discussing the newsprint problem were W. H. James, secretary of the New York Daily News; William O. Dapping, managing editor of the Auburn Citizen-Advertiser; John E. N. Hume Jr., editor of the Schenectady Gazette, and Karl McElroy, managing editor of the Syracuse Herald-Journal.

News suppression was discussed by M. Francis Malone, Utica attorney; Kirtland I. King of Albany, New York News manager of the United Press, and Cy B. King, executive editor of the Buffalo Courier-Express.

Appeal Offers

Morrisburg, Ont., Feb. 7 (AP)—Two residents in the path of the St. Lawrence Seaway have appealed offers for their property to the St. Lawrence Board of Review. R. H. Armstrong, Morrisburg lawyer, said one of his clients, W. H. Reddick of Matilda Township, should receive $35,000 for his 140-acre farm instead of the $18,000 offered by the Ontario Hydro-electric Power Commission. His second client, Mrs. Lillian Ackland of Iroquois, had been offered $8,625. Armstrong said. He asked $16,000.

Hoornebeck-Francus Nuptials Are Held

MRS. WILLIAM J. FRANCUS

(Sterling photo)

Miss Gloria Gaye Hoornebeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hoornebeck of Lake Katrine, became the bride of William John Francus, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Francus of Turner's Falls, Mass., Saturday, Feb. 4, at 9 a. m., in the parsonage of the Shokan Methodist Church. The Rev. John Grob performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Clarence Ostrander Jr., of West Hurley, was the matron of honor for her sister. She wore a grey dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Edward Francus of 120 Boulevard and uncle of the bridegroom, was the best man.

Miss Hoornebeck is a graduate of Kingston High and attended the Moran-Spencerian School of Business. She is employed by D-D's Drive-In.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Turner's Falls High School and served two years with the U. S. Army in Korea. He now helps operate a City Service Station with his uncle, Edward Francus.

For her wedding trip to Florida, the bride chose a gray suit with black accessories. The couple will reside in West Hurley.

Music Group Hears Discussion About String Concertos

The Music Appreciation Group of this city met at the home of Mrs. William Markle, North Manor avenue, Thursday Feb. 2.

Mrs. Hans Decker was in charge of the program on String Concertos. She said that a concerto was a composition for two, three or more solo instruments with orchestral accompaniment in two, three or four movements. It is usually in sonata form with modifications to allow for virtuosity, notably the cadenza played by the soloist just before the conclusion of the first and last movements.

Mrs. Decker went on to point out that Torrelli is credited with the modern form of concerto.

Wolfgang Mozart revised the concerto and was, in a sense, revolutionary in that he combined the music of the last century with the music of our century.

Abbot Vivaldi developed the form created by Corelli and Torrelli and was sometimes called the father of descriptive or program music. In the 17th, 18th, and 19th century, his music increased in popularity causing many changes because of new and different instruments.

Other composers discussed were Niccolò Paganini, Antonio Vivaldi, Paganini, Dvorak and Bruch recordings were played.

Mrs. Robert H. Pixley presided and Mrs. William Ochs and Mrs. Richard Morse were co-hostesses.

The next meeting of the Music Appreciation Group will be held at the home of Mrs. William Jackson on Washington avenue and Mrs. William Ochs will be in charge of the program.

Gift for Secretary

A reader tells me: "For Christmas, one of the big bosses gave his secretary a fur stole for a present. Heretofore he always gave her a quite a sizable check which she used for paying bills and never bought anything for herself with it. This year he decided to give her something personal and as he knew she had always wanted a stole gave her one. She has been his secretary for the past ten years. There has been much discussion in the office about the propriety of such a gift and we would appreciate hearing what you think about this."

In my opinion, any question of the propriety of this gift to a secretary of ten years standing would be absurd.

Removing Hat in Theater

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I disagree on women taking their hats off in the theater. He thinks a hat should be taken off, regardless; I think only when it might be obstructing someone's view, or when someone back of her asks her to. Please settle this difference we have every time we go to the theater.

Answer: A completely flat hat with no trimming standing up on it need not be taken off—especially if the wearer is very small.

But a hat that in any way impedes the view of those behind should be taken off whether one is asked to do so or not.

Marking Linens

Dear Mrs. Post: When having linens monogrammed with three initials, which initial should be in the center? I am confused as some say it should be my maiden initial and others say it should be the initial of my future husband's name. I am referring to the type of monogram which has a larger center initial.

Answer: The large initial should be that of your future name with your two present initials on either side of it.

What type of dress is worn at the wedding reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Clothes for daytime and evening receptions are described in leaflet E-6. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G.

DAR to Present Historic Play

Wiltwyck Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met and planned a program which will help celebrate George Washington's birthday, Feb. 22. Harry Rigby, vice president of the Kingston Coal Company, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Raymond Gross, regent, announced that the George Washington program would consist of a historic play under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Craft. Twelve children will participate in the play. Five high school contestants of the Good Citizen Yearly Contest, sponsored by the DAR, will be guests of honor as well as the Christopher Tappen Society, Children of the American Revolution. Mrs. Joseph McCann announced that on Feb. 11 a meeting will be held at the Chapter House for young people at which time the work of junior American citizens will be described.

Junior Marrieds Plan Spring Dance

Plans for the annual spring dance sponsored by the YWCA Junior Marrieds for May 26 at the Governor Clinton Hotel were formulated at the Feb. 2 meeting of the group at the "Y". Mrs. Robert V. Sickler was appointed chairman of the event.

The spring dance committee will consist of the Mes. Kendall Vogt, Allan Nissen, Robert Murray, Robert Short, Alva Bruce, Albert Gruner and Bernard Trowbridge.

The hostesses for the social hour following the meeting were the Mes. Fred Port, Louis Surhoff, Michael Tulp, Russell Brott, Donald Coffin, Irwin Ockrider and Paul Argulewicz.

Anniversary Party Given for Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Cortland Van Etten were recently honored at a surprise party given at their home in Lake Katrine on their 25th wedding anniversary.

The party was given by their children, Mrs. Theodore Bayer, Tupper Lake; Mrs. Milan Krihniak, Phelps; Al/c Philip Van Etten, U.S.A.A.F., Little Rock, Ark. Pfc. David Van Etten, another son, is stationed in Seoul, Korea and was unable to attend.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Van Etten, Monticello; Ray Van Etten of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Milan Krihniak and daughter, Susan; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bayer; Mrs. M. H. MacCollam, Miss Dorothy MacCollam, Dr. and Mrs. Allan MacCollam of Albany; Mr. and Mrs. K. J. MacCollam and son, Kevin and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perret.

The vivid colors used in these dresses for a winter vacation typify this year's cruise wear. Pure Irish linen sheath (left) in turquoise has fill-in neckline trim of satin. The print (right) is royal blue and white in a pure silk shantung. Top is cut with wide neckline and tiny sleeves. Both designs are from five-thirty p.m.—By GAIL DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Flemming Back From European Defense Meeting

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, director of Defense Mobilization has returned to Washington, D. C. from Paris, France where he attended as United States Representative the initial meeting of the Senior Civil Emergency Planning Committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Lord Ismay, secretary-general of NATO, was formed to coordinate the planning activities of NATO in the civil emergency field.

Dr. Flemming spent one day in London preparatory for this meeting, at which time he consulted with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Minister of Defense, the President of the Board of Trade and the Home Minister, all of whom are members of the British Cabinet.

It was reported that considerable progress was made at the initial meeting of the committee in the direction of carrying out the duties that had been assigned to the United States by the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The second meeting of the Senior Civil Emergency Planning Committee will be held some time this Spring.

Croat 'Critical'

The condition of Robert Allen Crocat, 21, of Lake Katrine, who was taken to Albany General Hospital Sunday night with a broken neck suffered in a tobogganing mishap, was listed as "still critical" this morning by hospital authorities. He was reported to have regained consciousness, however. Mr. Crocat was tobogganing down a small hill on the George Pearson property, Tyeenbridge road, "face up" when the sled struck a tree, Kingston state police reported.

The class represented by the most number of parents at the Thursday meeting will receive an award on Valentine's Day.

County-Wide Poultry Meeting Is Slated

A county-wide poultry meeting will be held in the supervisors' room at the Ulster county courthouse from 1 to 3:30 p. m. Friday.

On the agenda will be poultry house construction ideas, automatic feeders and other equipment and the bulk feed situation.

Robert D. Guzewich, associate county agricultural agent, said the meeting would provide interested persons with an opportunity to discuss poultry construction principles with Hollis Davis, Cornell extension engineer.

Settlement Is Near

Chicago, Feb. 7 (AP)—Settlement of the bitter, long legal fight over the $1,700,000 estate of Montgomery Ward Thorne appeared near today after a circuit judge set aside the last will of the young mail order heir. Judge Julius H. Miner yesterday entered an agreed order setting aside Thorne's last will, which provided that three-quarters of his estate should go to his sweetheart, Maureen Ragen, 19, and her mother, Mrs. Aileen Ragen. It also provided that his mother, Mrs. Marion Thorne, 54, sole beneficiary of an earlier will, should receive one-eighth, and a similar share should be given his aunt, Mrs. Carol McDougall Lind.

Group Honors Burr

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—A Society devoted to clearing the name of Aaron Burr celebrated the 200th anniversary of his birth last night. A number of scholarly people were on hand or recognized the occasion with messages. Dr. Samuel E. Burr Jr., president of the Aaron Burr Assn., deplored the fact that Burr is most generally known as the man who killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel.

Surgeon Claims He Can Remove Scars

Tokyo, Feb. 7 (AP)—A New York city plastic surgeon said today Japanese surgeons can heal the disfiguring scars of most Hiroshima and Nagasaki atomic bomb survivors if they adopt his techniques.

Dr. Morton I. Berson, 58, of Wickersham Hospital, reported on his methods to 300 Japanese surgeons. He is here as guest of the 90,000-member Japanese Medical Assn.

Japanese surgeons insist they cannot remove disfiguring scars because they can't get skin for grafting.

Berson said his method uses a thin layer of skin from the patient's body and that it is possible to scrape off a thin layer of healthy skin without damaging tissues. The doctor showed films of his operating technique. He said his method requires a series of operations with intervals of two or three months.

About 3,900 of the survivors of the 1945 A-bomb blasts retain disfiguring scars.

Dentists Sound Warning

Providence, R. I., Feb. 7 (AP)—Rhode Island dental authorities have issued a warning against the promiscuous use of fluoride toothpastes pending what they termed conclusive tests by the American Dental Assn. The warning was issued last night by Dr. Nicholas Migliaccio, president of the Rhode Island Dental Society; Dr. Vincent J. Oddo Jr., president of the Providence District Dental Society, and Dr. Thomas W. Clune, state public health dentist.

Cadillac

His Favorite Investment!

"It's the wisest investment I ever made!"

"I've owned a great many makes through the years, but Cadillac wins my vote as the finest investment of them all."

"In my book, it is the best dollar investment on the highway today!"

We can't tell you how many times we've heard it. In fact, Cadillac's value and economy have become favorite topics of conversation among Cadillac owners everywhere.

And their sentiments are based on some very real facts about the "car of cars."

First of all, there's the economy of buying a Cadillac. Many models are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.

Then there is the economy of operating a Cadillac. Cadillac's gasoline mileage is simply phenomenal for a car of its size and stature... and its dependability and freedom from repairs are truly extraordinary.

And, finally, there is the economy that comes from Cadillac's great value. In resale markets all across the land, the Cadillac car traditionally returns a higher percentage of its original cost than any other automobile built in America.

And consider, for a moment, what generous dividends Cadillac owners receive from their investments.

... the great pride they derive from Cadillac's beauty and luxury... the pleasure that comes with Cadillac's performance and comfort... and the satisfaction they take in Cadillac's reputation among the world's motorists.

We suggest that you pay us a visit soon and investigate the latest and finest Cadillac investment of them all.

We have the car... and the keys... and the facts—and we'll be happy to give you all three at any time.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many folks remember when the lights on the Esopus half of the Rondout Creek Bridge went out. According to The Kingston Freeman and Journal of Friday, June 30, 1922 "The Kingston Gas and Electric Company's patience was exhausted after Esopus authorities again refused to pay for the current." It seems that when the Rondout bridge was opened the Kingston Gas and Electric Co. installed lights and maintained them at their own expense although Esopus had failed to make any provisions for same. The city of Kingston could not, of course, lawfully spend the money of the taxpayers in lighting roads outside the city limits. No doubt this incident brought much comment during that year, for only $270 was needed for lighting that part of the bridge for a whole year at the time. The bridge cost about a half a million dollars and everyone was only too happy to use it at the time.

Who remembers when John D. Rockefeller drove to Kingston? According to The Kingston Freeman and Journal, of Friday, June 16, 1922, it seems the Rockefeller family were on their way home from Cooperstown. John D. Jr. missed the ferry that conveyed his father across the Hudson river and had a wait until the next. He had missed the ferry by stopping to watch the aerator basin of the Ashokan Reservoir. The interview Mr. Rockefeller Jr., who told him that this was the first time he had seen the reservoir since the work was completed. He had been a visitor at the scene when construction was underway. He said the aerator basin with the water playing high in the air made a beautiful sight. Mr. Rockefeller said that he had been under the impression that the new bridge, the highway department had constructed across the river, but learned later that it crossed the Rondout Creek. With the younger Mr. Rockefeller, were his three sons and a chauffeur. It soon became noised about among the taxi drivers and those waiting for the big ferry that the quiet and unassuming young man seated in the big Simplex car was John R. Jr., and many took the opportunity of getting a closer view of him.

Van Wageningen's used to have their "Old Fashion Bargains" in 1922 which took nearly a full page in the local newspaper. For instance they had "Men's night shirts, the $1.19 kind. Soft finish sturdy muslin, full length and roomy body, nicely made, only 79 cents." There was also had "Women's Hosiery made to sell for 98 cents. Silk and fibre mixed. Roll top. French clocks and plain. For street or bathing. Black, white and cordon for only 49 cents." They also had enamelware, double coated gray, all large sizes such as 6 qt. deep sauce pots, to such items as 2 qt. coffee pots for only 39 cents. They had 10 quart water pails, in gray enamelware for only 39 cents.

Friday, June 2, 1922 edition told about the large crowd at Kingston Point Park for Memorial Day. The dance at the Casino in the afternoon was largely attended, and trolley cars did a good business. A few ventured into the water. Alfred Monez swam across the Hudson river from the Day Line pier to the New York Central Station at Rhinecliff and returned. George Farber and Alfred Margolis followed Al Monez in a rowboat.

Vols Celebration To Fete Malden Firehall Opening

Saugerties, Feb. 7.—Open house will be observed at the newly completed Malden fire station of Malden-West Camp Fire Company Saturday, Feb. 11 at 7 p. m. The new firehouse located on Malden turnpike just west of Route 9W is the second of the Malden-West Camp Fire District, the other completed a short time ago is located at the rock cut on Route 9W in West Camp.

Fire Chief Charles Teetsel announced that refreshments would be served and that the public is invited to inspect the new building and the equipment. Chief Teetsel extends a special invitation to Supervisor Peter M. Williams and all members of the Town Board of Saugerties who at all times offered guidance and cooperation to the company during its struggle for existence and also to all patrons of the company who donated services and rendered financial aid.

The completion and subsequent "open house" celebration is the culmination of one of the most ambitious undertakings of any volunteer fire company in Ulster county. Both fire stations were erected with volunteer labor and from funds donated to the company in a finance campaign conducted during 1954. Many large donations of materials from fire district residents eased the financial burden. Both stations were completed without cost to the taxpayers of the district on property donated by district residents and the county.

The groundbreaking of the Malden station took place in the summer of 1954 just a few days apart from the groundbreaking of West Camp's station.

Methodist Church Offers Movie On Church School

A film entitled, "Teaching in the Church School", will be shown in the assembly room of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, 122 Clinton avenue, tonight at 7 o'clock.

The film, which runs for 35 minutes, portrays actual classroom situations where, under the guidance of a good teacher, young people enter into discussions which are pertinent to the living of the Christian life as they see it. It shows how to approach the challenge of teaching and depicts vividly the progress which young people make under the stimulus of good leadership.

THE PURPOSE OF the film is both to instruct and inspire those who have anything to do with the training of the young. It will be of interest to those who are now teaching, prospective teachers and parents and to all who are interested in the challenging art of helping others to learn.

The commission on education of Clinton Avenue Church is presenting this film at this time as a public service to the community. While it is produced by the Radio and Film Commission of the Methodist Church, it contains no doctrinal material whatsoever. A brief discussion will follow the showing of the film. Everyone in the community is cordially invited to attend.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Forcing Two Bid Too Much

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

When you open with two of a suit you assume responsibility for a game contract of some kind. Your partner may be forced to bid no-trump just to keep the bidding open, and you can't rely on such no-trump bids to show stoppers in the unbid suits.

In today's hand North had a doubtful two-bid since he couldn't really feel confident about game if the hand had to play in clubs opposite a weak South hand. He should have felt even less confident about no-trump.

North discovered that his partner had a weak hand, since his first response was two no-trump. He next discovered that South didn't have four-card support for spades, since South couldn't raise that suit.

That's all North knew. He knew nothing about the hearts or diamonds. His pass at three no-trump was a sheer gamble. He should have bid four clubs, intending to play the hand at game in clubs unless South could come through with a belated diamond bid. If South bid four diamonds, North would raise to five in that suit.

There would have been far less guesswork if North had opened with only one club. South would respond with one diamond, and North would now jump to two spades. South would make a forced response of three clubs, whereupon North could show diamond support by bidding three diamonds. Now South could bid three spades, and North could bid three spades, and North would have a good picture of the South hand; three-card spade support, three-card club support, some weak holding in diamonds, and no strength in hearts (because South consistently avoided bidding no-trump). North would therefore bid five clubs.

There was nothing to the play at three no-trump. The defenders took the first five heart tricks, setting the contract before South could get started.

Donnaruma Insurance Keglers Lead City Tourney With 2944

Donnaruma Insurance keglers cracked a 2944 gross to lead the opening shift of the Kingston Bowling Associations' 19th annual tournament at the Bowlodrome.

Led by Dick Dulin's 631 gross series, the Insurance trundlers compiled a 2536 net score and had 408 pins handicap.

Saranac No. 2 of the IBM and Ballantine's of the Classic tied for second with 2825.

J. D. Dairy Bar of the Merchants of New Paltz slammed 2771 and Augustine Insurance of the Junior Major rapped 2766 for the fifth slot.

SHOOTING FOR THE RECORD 112-team entry got under way after usual opening night ceremonies.

Emmanuel Calao, president of the Kingston Bowling Association, made the welcome speech and introduced Edward Norton, tournament chairman, and Irwin J. Thomas, the association secretary. Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, was master of ceremonies.

Early trophy leaders include Harold Broskie with a 225 single for the Mayor Stang trophy; Dick Dulin 631 for the Tom Orr trophy; Forst Formosts, 2651 net, for the John Sangi trophy and Donnaruma Ins., 2944, for the John Ferrara trophy.

LEO BECHTOLD and Tom Orr fired 630 gross triples. Bechtold had 213 and Orr 206 in the solo department.

Milt Cole Jr. rapped 212-623, John Alecia 615, Chet Carlson 605, Harold Broskie 225-588, Jake Crosswell 211-551, Dick Howard 204-529.

Highly glossed alleys and new pins contrived to make rough going for the keglers. The two Hudson valley powerhouses—Forst Formosts and Rapp's Express—drew alleys 7 and 8 but could do no better than 2651 and 2558 in the net department.

Seek 30-Million Sports Stadium To House Flock

Albany, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Dodgers could have a new home in Brooklyn under two bills introduced in the Legislature last night.

Sen. Walter E. Cooke, a Democrat, and Assemblyman Frank J. McMullen, a Republican, both from Brooklyn, introduced bills calling for a 30-million-dollar sports center that would include a huge stadium.

Plans for the stadium were originally disclosed Sunday by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York city and John Cashmore, Brooklyn Borough president. The bills would establish a three-member, unsalaried public authority, empowered to float 30 million dollars worth of bonds to build and supervise the center. The stadium's seating capacity was not specified.

The Dodgers are not named in the bills but the world champions, unhappy with Ebbets Field, are regarded as likely tenants.

Dons First With 1166, Dayton 2nd

By NICK ELLENA

(The Associated Press)

The San Francisco Dons go after their 43rd straight victory tonight with a solid vote of confidence from the nation's sports writers and broadcasters as the No. 1 college basketball team in the land.

For the ninth straight week, the Dons topped the Associated Press poll and their stranglehold on the No. 1 spot at least until the end of the regular season seems secure.

Victories over two Loyolas, California and Illinois, in the past week, solidified Dayton's runner-up spot. The Flyers, bound for the National Invitation tournament after accepting a bid yesterday, hold a sizeable lead over third-place Vanderbilt.

THE ONLY CHANGES in the select 10 saw Kentucky move up a notch from eighth place by virtue of victories over Auburn and Duke. Temple dropped from seventh to ninth after suffering its first defeat of the season, 67-66, at the hands of Muhlenberg before bouncing back to down St. Francis (Pa.) Duke vaulted from 10th to eighth after turning back North Carolina, and Alabama moved into the 10th slot after downing Georgia Tech. North Carolina dropped out of the top ten.

The top 10 teams with first-place votes and won-loss records through Saturday in parentheses (points based on 10 for first, 9-8-7, etc.):

1. San Francisco (74) (10-0) 1.166	6. Illinois (12) (18-1) 709
2. Dayton (5) (16-1) 856	7. Kentucky (13-3) 567
3. Vanderbilt (5) (15-1) 745	8. Duke (11) (13-3) 555
4. N. Carolina St. (4) (16-2) 746	9. Temple (14-1) 522
5. Louisville (12) (18-1) 709	10. Alabama (5) (12-3) 187

KANSAS STATE won for the first time in four years at Nebraska, 66-52, to bolster its Big 7 lead while Missouri was winning Kansas' hopes 85-78. Connecticut stayed unbeaten in the Yankee Conference, making Maine its 19th straight league victim 94-68.

George Washington (No. 19) gained a share of the Southern Conference lead with West Virginia by walloping Furman 126-69. Joe Holup passed the 2,000-point career mark with 40.

West Virginia was beaten in a non-league game 84-69 by Memphis State.

Only three other ranked teams were active last night. Once-beaten Temple (No. 9) held St. Green to 19 points and beat NIT-bound Duquesne 63-48 as Guy Rodgers hit 24 points. Oklahoma City (No. 14) defeated Wichita 63-59 and Iowa (No. 17), the Big 10 runner-up, outlasted Wisconsin 78-74.

IN OTHER GAMES, Texas Tech took second place in the Border Conference by defeating Arizona 105-67, and Murray (Ky.) edged Regis of Denver 86-84.

Clemson set a team scoring mark by beating the Citadel 114-69. Western Kentucky defeated Eastern Kentucky 93-92 in overtime. Wake Forest posted Richmond 81-73. Louisiana State whipped Mississippi 100-76 and Tulane beat Mississippi State 110-72 in two other SEC games. Julius McCoy scored 41 as Michigan State trounced Michigan 86-76 in the Big 10. Colgate beat Pitt 79-68 and Penn State clipped Lehigh 88-64.

Berrios Kayoes Courchesne in 5th

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Miguel

Berrios was gloating over his newly found punching power today and Bobby Courchesne complained about the Puerto Rican's "holding and hitting."

Berrios, a stocky little man of 23 years, dropped Courchesne twice for counts of nine and eight last night at St. Nicholas Arena and stopped him on a TKO in 2:29 of the fifth round. Referee Mark Conn stepped between the pair after a right to the jaw left Courchesne helpless against the ropes.

Until the fifth, Referee Conn had it 3-1 for Courchesne. The two judges, Artie Schwartz and Leo Birnbaum, scored it 2-2. So did the AP.

Courchesne had been an 8 to 5 favorite, but the price shifted to Berrios at 7 to 5 after the weigh-in when Courchesne had to sweat off a half pound to make the contracted 131 pounds. Berrios weighed 128 3/4 pounds.

Colgate Stops Pitt, 79-68

(By The Associated Press)

The Pittsburgh basketball team has left upstate New York, carrying sad memories of encounters with the area's big three.

The Panthers fought stubbornly last night, but bowed to Colgate's Red Raiders 79-68 in the last minutes.

In a Saturday night game the Panthers led up to the final two minutes, then were defeated 82-79 as Syracuse put on a last minute surge.

In other action last night unbeaten Plattsburgh Teachers traveled to Lyndon Center, Vt., to overwhelm Lyndon State 91-63. The Plattsburgh regulars played less than half the game. Jack Nichols and Joe Stratton led the Colgate scoring with 27 and 25 points each. With last night's game the Raiders set a single-season scoring record. They now have 1,648 points with six games to play. Their previous record was 1,635, set last year.

Bama's Upending of Vanderbilt Boosts Kentucky Hopes in SEC

(By The Associated Press)

By ED WILKS

The South, hasn't been reconstructed after all. Kentucky is as healthy as ever in the Southeastern Conference basketball race now that Alabama has upset ambitious Vanderbilt.

It looked like Vandy, No. 3 in this week's Associated Press poll, was set to free the SEC from its bondage under Col. Adolph Rupp's Kentuckians. Rupp, himself, admitted Kentucky's domination was over after Vanderbilt beat the Wildcats in their own lair and bounced off with a 7-0 league mark.

But 'Bama, another upstart, ended that nonsense last night 88-61. It was only the second defeat in 17 games for Vandy, but it was a sound thrashing. Jerry Harper, Alabama's 6-8 center, canned 23 points and Denis O'Shea backed him with 21 as the Tide rolled up as much as a 32-point lead.

THE TRIUMPH, celebrating Alabama's return to the top 10 ranks, pushed the Tide into the SEC lead at 6-0 while dumping Vandy into a second place tie at 7-1 with Kentucky, which rallied to beat Florida 81-70.

'Bama now has the lead, but it isn't in the catbird seat. The Tide has to meet Kentucky, No. 7 nationally, Feb. 25 in the fight for the SEC crown and the NCAA berth it commands. Vandy, which had won nine straight, faces Kentucky again Feb. 20.

In other conference action last night, Illinois, No. 6 needed some last-minute heroics from Capt. Paul Judson to beat Indiana 92-89 and stay unbeaten atop the Big 10. St. Louis, No. 11, however, saw its nine-game streak snapped by Oklahoma A&M 65-63. That cut the Billikens' Missouri Valley record to 6-1 and left them just a game ahead of Houston (5-2).

KANSAS STATE won for the first time in four years at Nebraska, 66-52, to bolster its Big 7 lead while Missouri was winning Kansas' hopes 85-78. Connecticut stayed unbeaten in the Yankee Conference, making Maine its 19th straight league victim 94-68.

In traditional fashion the next 30 days will see the heaviest concentration of winter sports on the annual calendar.

Starting with last night's opening of the 19th annual Kingston Bowling Association tournament, a two-week affair, the week and month offer many attractive sports dates.

Kingston High meets Port Jervis in a crucial DUSO League basketball game Friday night at the Kate Walton field house. The Maroon's pennant hopes will be riding on that one.

Old Timers Association brings a legendary figure—Buck Ewing of Schenectady—to their annual convalesce Thursday night. At the same time Little Leagues of the area will be assembling at the county court house to select a delegate to the Little League Congress in Chicago in March.

Friday night New Paltz State Teachers battle Oneonta State at New Paltz and that's an interesting pair since it pits two former KHS stars—Bob Bondar and Long John Godwin—against each other. Both, incidentally, have been playing well.

The Man With the Six Homers:

About that guy who hit six homers in six successive games and never got credit for a single homer.

The name of the player escapes us but that's unimportant. He was with Bloomington of the Three-Eye League back around 1929, and let's just call him Johnson.

Johnson started his streak when he hit a ball over the left field fence for what would ordinarily have been a homer. It happened, however, that the club was building a new fence a short distance back of the old one, but the old fence had not yet been taken down. The ball struck the top of the new barrier and bounced back into the playing field. The umpires ruled the ball was in play and while Johnson got a hit, he didn't hit a homer.

The next day Johnson hit one far over the center fielder's head and easily beat the throw home. In rounding second, however, he failed to touch the bag, and when the play was made at that sack, Johnson was declared out.

If our hero thought he had jinx working against him, he must have been pretty well convinced the next day. He put the ball out of the lot the first time up. But when he completed the circuit he learned that his manager had changed the lineup without notifying him, and instead of a homer he was ruled out for batting out of turn.

Mr. Johnson must have been ready for the gas pipe after the next game. Again he hit a homer the first time up. But for the first and only time that season, a game which his team had started failed to go five innings, but was called off early because of rain. So Johnson's fourth homer was washed out.

What happened the next day? Well, Johnson came up with a man on first and hit a high fly to left. It looked as if the ball might be caught and the runner took but a short lead. Johnson meanwhile went tearing around the bases at full speed. The ball cleared the fence and—well, Johnson found himself declared out for having passed a baserunner.

Johnson probably thought his streak was at an end when the sixth game went nine innings and he hadn't been robbed of his daily homer. But the score was tied and the game when 14 innings. In that frame Johnson again socked one over the fence and his team went on to score six runs. But as soon as Johnson's team had scored a run the opposing club began to stall (this was, of course, in the days before the lights) and did it so successfully that the inning couldn't be completed. So the umpires had to call the game because of darkness and the score reverted to the end of the 13th. And again our man Johnson lost a home run.

So when you get that 7-10 split twice in a row, or take four on a short putt, or fail to come up with that ace you need—remember the guy called Johnson and the lost six homers.

Yankees-Nats Opening Game Moved Up Day to April 16

Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—The official opening of the 1956 major league baseball season was moved up one day leading to speculation that President Eisenhower plans a trip out of town on Tuesday, April 17.

That was the date originally scheduled for the opener between the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees.

BUT TODAY the participants as well as American League headquarters decided to move up the game to Monday, April 16 (at 1:30 p. m., EST).

Spokesmen for the Senators first declined comment on why the change was made but later listed as the official reason a general desire to point up the Washington opening game as a solo event.

It is known, however, that Mr. Eisenhower likes to make trips South in April. And on at least one occasion since he took office he left before the regularly scheduled opening game.

Section 9 Track Meet Due Here

St. Francis Fifth In NIT Tourney

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—The field in the National Invitation basketball tournament stood at four teams today with a fifth expected before the week is out.

Little St. Francis of Brooklyn has been tendered a bid for the Madison Square Garden event, scheduled for March 17-24, and officials said there was little doubt that it would be accepted.

St. Francis boasts a 15-0 record. Marquette and Dayton accepted bids yesterday. Earlier, Seton Hall and Duquesne had entered.

Medals will be awarded to the top finishers in each class. The leaders in each event, regardless of school class, will be eligible for the state meet.

Pettit Leads Arizin by Six

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Bob

Pettit of St. Louis and Paul Arizin of Philadelphia have the scoring race all to themselves at the moment in the National Basketball Association, but there's no lack of action.

Pettit regained the lead (the 20th shift in 12 weeks) from Arizin's four-day hold with a 70-point, two-game weekend that gave him a 6-point edge. Pettit, who has averaged 30.6 points a game in the last eight, has 1,148. Arizin has 1,142.

CLYDE LOVELETTE of Minneapolis is third with 1,068 while defending champ Neil Johnston of Philadelphia is fourth at 990. Both are former leaders.

Pettit still is tops in game averages with a 24.4 mark for the season. Arizin has a 23.3 average, and is No. 1 in field goal accuracy at 45.4.

Fort Wayne defeated Syracuse 99-98 to break a three-game losing streak in the only game last night.

Maureen Connolly New Tennis Pro

Chicago, Feb. 7 (AP)—Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, one of the greatest women tennis players of all time, turned professional yesterday "to promote tennis among the youth of America."

The three-time National Women's champion and three-time victor at Wimbledon will join the advisory staff of a sporting goods company.

Little Mo, 21 and married, has not played tennis competitively since suffering a leg injury while horseback riding in July of 1954.

Appearing at a news conference, Maureen said in addition to representing the firm (Wilson Sporting Goods Co.) her main objective will be "to promote tennis among the youth of America. I will do some touring, giving talks on tennis and instructions at high schools and playgrounds. I think all of this will help also in combatting juvenile delinquency," she added.

Beliveau Back In Scoring Lead

Montreal, Feb. 7 (AP)—Montreal's Jean Beliveau has swept back into the scoring lead in the National Hockey League.

The 24-year-old Canadian slammed home five goals last week to overhaul Detroit's Gordie Howe in the weekly statistics check today. The surge gave Beliveau's 60 points. Howe, who took over the lead two weeks ago, has 58 after only one assist last week.

Fans Riding The Wrong Ref

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 7 (AP)—Referee Jack Downey says he's certain some television fight fans are doing more watching than listening.

The California boxing official said yesterday he had received letters from 18 irate fans for his handling of last month's Sandy Saddler-Flash Elorde featherweight championship fight in San Francisco.

Downey didn't work the fight. Ray Flores did.

Marblatown Teenage Cagers Plan Olympic Doubleheader

The Town of Marblatown Teenage Recreation Commission has announced plans for a basketball doubleheader on Saturday, Feb. 25, at the Marblatown Central School.

All proceeds will be turned over to the Olympic Fund committee in New York.

The Teenage committee has appointed George Smith of High Falls and Juanita Scheely of Kyserie co-chairmen for the event. Curtis Goins of Lyonsville is handling publicity, with Peggy Roosa of High Falls in charge of refreshments.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—A high ranking AAU official sighed wistfully today, took a longing look in the general direction of Australia, and said in "a weak voice that he "hoped" John Landy would run in the United States during the current indoor season.

The situation is serious, indeed, what with Wes Santee rendered hors de combat by the AAU. Now the brass has gotten itself into a corner. The promoters want top competition in the mile — traditionally the glamor event of the indoor campaign.

But with Ron Delany of Villanova running only as fast as winning requires—and that isn't fast without Santee—the mile has lost much of its luster. Santee won't be on hand for at least two more weeks until the AAU decides whether he's innocent or guilty of charges of accepting excessive expenses.

AAU MAJOR-domo Dan Ferris, who is in Europe with the Olympians, directed that Landy be invited here.

"He made the suggestion when I cabled him the news on Santee," said Jim Simms, one of Ferris' top aides. "All the directors of the remaining meets quickly subscribed to the idea."

"Of course, it's awfully short notice, but we're hoping Landy can come."

Short notice it is. Getting Landy out of Australia is like packing a crate of wild lions with your bare hands. The only man alive to have run the mile under four minutes three times—his 3:58 is the all-time record—already has rejected a bid to run in Canada, a sister country of Australia in the British Commonwealth.

The AAU invited him here for the National championship Feb. 18, the IC4-A meet Feb. 25, the New York K of C games March 3, the Milwaukee Journal event March 10, the Cleveland K of C games March 17 and the Chicago Daily News meet March 24.

Chamberland Cracks 484 in Matinee Loop

Rose Chamberland's 484, with 170-161-153, was best score in the Matinee Club League.

Tap Stophor topped 461, Mildred Dunn 416, Flo Koskie 444, Terry Becker 446, Evelyn Francis 439, Eleanor Singer 416, Lillian Martin 400, Margaret McCordie 407, Edith Barnovitz 421.

Team results: Reynolds Plumbing 2, Becker's Trucking 1; Gene Whalen's 1, Bernal Sales 2; DeLuca Cleaners 1, Bowery Dugout 2; McCordie's 1, Quality Maple Block 2.

Over the last two seasons, Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers has driven in more runs than any other major leaguer. He has sent in 266 tallies.

ROD-GUN CLUB OFFICIALS—Surrounding District Attorney Howard C. St. John at the annual Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club banquet are five officials of the club. Seated: Roland

ROUNDING OUT OFF-SEASON—Bobby Kline, Washington Senators' infielder, keeps his hands in shape by packing oranges at St. Petersburg, Fla., during off-season. He'll give up "Florida baseballs" for real ones soon when Nats open camp at Orlando.

NAME'S THE SAME—Joe Graboski of the Philadelphia Warriors does just that as he latches onto ball with one hand and then wraps the free one around Ray Felix of the Knickerbockers.

To Investigate Strike

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 7 (AP)—In an unprecedented move, the Maryland House of Delegates last night voted to launch a "grand inquest" probe of the 8-day-old Baltimore transit strike. By invoking a section of the 1867 constitution, the 123-member House will sit as a sort of super grand jury to determine "the causes and possible ending of the walkout by about 2,000 employees of the Baltimore Transit Co. The consensus of the legislators was that the inquest itself would not end the strike, but would go a long way toward getting the company and union negotiators to give the public a better idea about the background of the bus and streetcar tieup.

Case Adjudged

The case of Vincent Fallon, 55, of 228 South Wall street, a former supervisor of the 13th Ward, who was arrested in the town of Esopus early Sunday morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated, was adjudged Monday night by Justice of the Peace Allen Dargie of New Salem until 8 p. m. Friday. Mr. Fallon was released in $100 bail.

Poultry Topic Listed

Poultry house construction, automatic feeders and bulk feed handling will be the topic for discussion at a poultry construction meeting to be held Thursday, Feb. 9, at the Agricultural Extension Service office, 74 John street, from 1 to 3:30 p. m. Light Vote Seen For Congressman In N.Y. Districts

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—In special elections today three New York city districts will name a new congressman and two state legislators.

The vote is expected to be light in view of a low voter registration last October and little interest generated in the campaign. Polls were open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. (EST).

The congressional contest is in the 22nd district of the south Bronx for the seat vacated by Democrat Sidney J. Fine upon election to the State Supreme Court bench last November.

THE DISTRICT has voted Democratic by 3 to 1 in recent elections and is expected to replace Fine with another Democrat, James C. Healey, law secretary to Bronx Borough President James J. Lyons.

Healey is opposed in a three-way fight by Republican Barnett Davis and Sidney Burstein, a former Republican and now head of a local Liberal Party club.

The two state Legislature seats are at stake in the Eighth senatorial district in north Queens and the Second assembly district of Brooklyn's Coney Island area.

THE CLOSEST contest is expected in Queens where former State Sen. Bernard Tompkins is making a comeback attempt. A Republican Tompkins lost his seat in 1954 to Democrat Frank C. O'Connor, who vacated it after being elected Queens district attorney last fall.

Opposing Tompkins is Assemblyman Thomas A. Duffy, running on the Democratic and Liberal tickets.

The Brooklyn district, traditionally Democratic, will choose between Asst. Dist. Atty. Samuel Bonom, Democrat, and Bryant W. Fischer, an attorney and a Republican. They are competing for the Assembly seat left vacant by the death of J. Sidney Levin, Democrat.

The three candidates in the congressional campaign are lawyers.

Pasadena Feels Quakes

Pasadena, Calif., Feb. 7 (AP)—Two light earthquakes, apparently centered in the Newhall area about 40 miles northwest of here, were recorded last night by the seismograph at California Institute of Technology. The first was at 6:17 p. m. and the second at 7:16 p. m. The first had a magnitude of 4.0 on a scale that rates the heaviest quake ever recorded at 8.6. The second quake measured 4.6.

Found Dead in Bed

Hernando, Miss., Feb. 7 (AP)—An Illinois widow and a 45-year-old Catholic priest died in bed yesterday after registering at their motel as "The Connollys." Coroner J. F. Gore ruled their deaths accidental. He said gas escaping from a heater in their closed motel room asphyxiated the couple. The priest was identified by the Roman Catholic diocesan chancery office in Springfield, Ill., as the Rev. Thomas Connolly of Macon, Ill. Sheriff W. A. White of DeSoto county said here the woman was Mrs. Edward Minor of 1216 S. McArthur street) Springfield, Ill.

Freight Cars Derailed

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—Nineteen freight cars were derailed today when a car from a Delaware & Hudson freight train sideswiped another freight as the two trains were passing near the Saratoga Spa Reservation. The railroad reported there were no injuries. Officials said a car on a northbound freight, headed for Rouses Point out of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., buckled and slammed into a

Ike Message Delayed

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—A message by President Eisenhower recommending to Congress revision of the nation's immigration laws has been delayed a second time. Originally scheduled for delivery yesterday, it was first moved back to today. But late yesterday White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the message had been delayed again, perhaps until late this week. Hagerty said the delay was not attributable to any controversy over provisions of the message, but that "they are still working on it."

Blood Assurance

Program Is Told For Plattekill
Plattekill, Feb. 7.—The Blood Assurance program is a personal, family and community program. Undertaking the community project is Plattekill Grange through the Community Service Committee headed by Chairman Mrs. Albina S. Orlowski.

Mrs. Beulah Merwin, chairman of the Blood Assurance program, has been temporarily replaced by Mrs. Orlowski until the return of Mrs. Merwin from Florida.

The program is likened to an insurance program: One pint of blood donated by a member of family, entitles him to designate 10 people in his family who are then eligible to receive four pints of blood for one year, if needed. The advance gift of a pint of blood assures a person of a supply of free blood all year for himself, his family, relatives, friends and fraternal associates.

THROUGH COOPERATION
by residents in and around Plattekill township area will assure the communities an ample supply for every resident for the coming year.
Informative kits on the blood assurance program are available from Mrs. Orlowski. Either
Mrs. Orlowski or Mrs. Merwin will outline plans for pre-activity to any body or club membership during the month of February.

Organizations are urged for cooperation and support through enrollment as a body.
People desiring information on the community blood program and service may contact any member of the Grange Community Service committee which includes Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kleeman, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Merwin and Mrs. Orlowski.

Balloons to Keep Flying, U. S. Says

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—The U. S. government sends a lot of balloons into the air, and Pentagon officials indicated today they don't intend to stop merely because Russia objects.
Moscow protested formally
Sunday about what it termed
U. S. action in dispatching from West Germany and other border nations fleets of huge balloons carrying automatic cameras and radio equipment. A halt was demanded also to propaganda-carrying balloons sent up by private U. S. organizations.

Defense Department officials said all of the balloons launched by the U. S. Navy and Air Force are for strictly scientific studies.
The Navy has two active balloon programs running simultaneously. The Air Force recently expanded a program it started nine years ago to gather upper air information in many parts of the world.
The Navy recently started floating balloons from Japan across the Pacific to study air currents at various altitudes.

by Republican Assemblyman
Leo P. Noonan of Cattaraugus county. A measure to boost the Company Ordered To Cease Block In Union Case

The Sullivan County Wood Products Company of Monticello has been ordered to cease interference with the organizing activities of the Hudson Valley
Council of Carpenters in an order signed by Joseph DiFede, chairman of the New York State Labor Relations Board.

The company was also ordered to "cease and desist" from discouraging membership in any union of an employee's choice.

Mr. DiFede's decision, representing the full board, was on an appeal by the company from an earlier decision by one of the board's examiners last fall.
About a year ago the Hudson Valley Council of Carpenters, of which George E. Yerry, Jr., is business agent, brought action against the company following the discharge of two men by the wood products firm. The council charged that dismissal was for union activities.

In his decision Mr. DiFede ordered the company to pay within 10 days a sum of $541 to James McGuire, and a sum of $48 to Paul Dumont, the two employees discharged by the firm a year ago. These amounts are the loss in wages by the employee from the time of discharge until the employee secures permanent employment again. This money must be paid to the State Labor Relations Board which turns it over to the Mr. McGuire and Mr. Dumont.

Communities Are

tracting even more nuclear industries because of the availability of skilled specialists needed in those industries.
He said more scientists and engineers are graduated every year from universities in New York than from those in any other state.

And about 85 per cent of the graduates, he added, are natives of the state who want to stay here.
In reviewing the safety record of nuclear plants, Dickinson said that on the basis of experience to date there was "no more danger in having such plants for neighbors than in having a grain mill next door."

At a preliminary meeting last night Raymond A. Griffin of Point Pleasant was elected president of the Assn. of Fire Districts of New York State.
Other officers selected were:
Alex. Schultz, Sayville, vice president; James Holmes, Tonawanda, vice president; Stephen
P. Fox, New Hyde Park, secretary-treasurer.

In the Middle Ages many people believed that cats could gan said, "I'll put in the bill for a two-cent increase in the gasoline tax and you supply the votes."

Harriman indicated he would oppose the Wilson-Condon bill that would deny the tax exemptions to private colleges and universities that employ persons belonging to organizations deemed subversive by the U. S. Department of Justice.
He said he had not seen the bill but "I believe the university trustees are best qualified to decide in these matters. The trustees ought to be the ones to make such decisions."
The governor said in the interview that he might recommend creation of a special commission to study the state's security risk law. It empowers the state to fire or suspend any employee deemed a security risk from a "sensitive" state agency.
Harriman said also that legislation to protect motorists against uninsured drivers was "long overdue." He said he did not believe "we should have compulsory insurance unless absolutely necessary." The Republicans are reported leaning toward a compulsory bill.
Harriman said he hoped the Legislature would give "impartial consideration" to his plan. It provides for assessing uninsured drivers $30 a year and using the money to compensate persons for injuries and property damage caused by uninsured drivers.

until some senators who were on their way to the chamber could arrive and be recorded.
ON THE TALLY, the six senators absent and not voting were Kennedy (D-Mass.), McNamara (D-Mich.), Millikin (R-Colo.), O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Russell (D-Ga.) and H. Alexander Smith (R-N. J.).
The Senate election subcommittee, meanwhile, made no immediate decision on whether to launch a much broader investigation of its own into the use of money to influence elections or legislators by campaign contributions.
Chairman Hennings (D-Mo.) said after a closed meeting of the subcommittee that problems were discussed but that no decisions were made. He said the group would meet later in the day (2 p. m. EST).
HENNINGS was asked if he felt that creation of a special committee would deprive the elections unit of jurisdiction over the Case incident. He replied that was one of the matters the subcommittee had discussed.
Differences over whether Hennings' group or a special committee should look into the Case incident led to blocking yesterday of Johnson's move for the latter type of investigation. Under the circumstances then, unanimous Senate consent was required.
Hennings said his subcommittee might decide to go immediately into Case's disclosure that he had been offered a $2,500 campaign donation from John M. Neff, an attorney from Lexington, Neb.
Neff 16, after declaring there were "no strings attached" to his offer of a campaign donation to Case. And he said he resented the senator's implication that the money was designed to influence his vote in favor of a bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal price controls.

Boonville, north of Rome, reported more than eight inches of new fall, for a total of 36 on the ground.
The weather bureau gave these other 7:30 a. m. measurements (new fall first, on-the-ground in parenthesis):
Massena 5 (14); Watertown 3 (8); Utica 2 (16); Binghamton 3 (9); Glens Falls 5 (18); Binghamton 3 (9); Oneonta 1 (8).
A BUS CARRYING 16 passengers skidded on Route 9W near Cementon, Greene county, along the Hudson river, last night and crashed into a concrete abutment. Fourteen passengers reported minor injuries. One, Mrs. Mary Hotaling, 68, of Kingston, was treated for mouth injuries.
Mrs. Mary Smith, 27, of Cohocton, and her son John, 4, were killed yesterday in a pileup of three cars and a truck near Wayland, Steuben county.
In Amsterdam, Frank Furman, about 50, died on a downtown street, apparently after slipping and falling.

Supporters . . .

ing controls would mean a 600 to 800 million dollar hike in consumer gas bills and a multibillion dollar "windfall" to big oil companies owning most of the gas.
Proponents say that consumers would be protected by a provision that pipelines' wholesale rates to local distributing utilities must not reflect more than a "reasonable market price" paid to producers.
THE EFFECT of the bill is to nullify a 1954 decision by the Supreme Court that the FPC had a duty to fix wellhead prices for gas sold to companies for shipment through interstate pipelines. Previously, the commission held that the 1938 natural gas act did not give it such authority. A 4-1 majority of the present commission backed the legislation.
A somewhat similar bill was passed by Congress in 1950 but vetoed by former President Truman, who said the issue was then in the courts. His veto was not overridden.

Guardmen are even planning for "house to house canvassing" for those residents who find it inconvenient to visit the Armory. Col. Harkin said that "if it is a question of transportation, we here are prepared to provide it for any of the parents of prospective recruits who might be interested in hearing the National Guard story."

parents are visited personally by a member of the Guard and fully acquainted with what our organization has to offer the young man of military age."
He said his principal assistants in organizing and conducting the drive would be Captain Frank Fabbie the S/2 of the 156th, for units in Kingston and Captain John Martell, commanding Battery C, along with Captain Edward Seingenthaler in command of Battery B for the Poughkeepsie units.
Guard members are planning to devote the entire day to recruiting, following a two-hour training period at the Armory early in the morning.
The public is being invited to visit the Armory during the day and observe the training. Orientation classes regarding enlistment, benefits and the provisions for performing military obligations while serving in a local unit and living at home, are being planned. Telephone information service is being provided.

Democrats Want

ed a tax-increase bill which would have placed a larger burden on truckers and other commercial highway users.
THE NEW Democratic-sponsored plan anticipates a revenue gain of $12,022,000,000 over 15 years. Added to the 22 billions expected to be realized from existing gas and tire taxes, the total would about meet the proposed federal share of 35 billions. The states would be expected to provide funds to make up the rest of the grand total of 5 1/2 billion dollars to build the proposed roads, including a 40,000-mile interstate superhighway system.
Boggs told newsmen the revenue anticipated under his bill would fall about 5 per cent short of the 15-year federal needs. But he said the 5 per cent estimate probably is "very conservative," and that actual tax revenues should even exceed what is now anticipated.
TAX EXPERTS expect this 15-year return from the proposed program:
Gasoline—$8,624,000,000.
Diesel and special fuels—$334,000,000.
Trucks, buses and truck trailers—$886,000,000.
Tires—$2,001,000,000.
Camelback—$177,000,000.
Farmers would be unaffected by the added taxes insofar as the fuel used on their farms is concerned.
Exemptions from the increase—but not from existing taxes—are provided for such users as airplanes, motorboats, farm tractors, construction equipment and buses used in public transportation systems within metropolitan areas.
The Boggs bill would take effect June 30 this year.

Supporters . . .

ing controls would mean a 600 to 800 million dollar hike in consumer gas bills and a multibillion dollar "windfall" to big oil companies owning most of the gas.
Proponents say that consumers would be protected by a provision that pipelines' wholesale rates to local distributing utilities must not reflect more than a "reasonable market price" paid to producers.
THE EFFECT of the bill is to nullify a 1954 decision by the Supreme Court that the FPC had a duty to fix wellhead prices for gas sold to companies for shipment through interstate pipelines. Previously, the commission held that the 1938 natural gas act did not give it such authority. A 4-1 majority of the present commission backed the legislation.
A somewhat similar bill was passed by Congress in 1950 but vetoed by former President Truman, who said the issue was then in the courts. His veto was not overridden.
